Muslim Brotherhood Fact Sheet

Islam, Judaism, and Other Atrocities

Mutt Strawman

It would seem that this patch does indeed symbolize U.S. submission. The only thing missing is the shahada.

Compare the three stars on the new Operation Inherent Resolve patch with the three stars on the Flag of the District of Columbia. Not only is it the flag of Washington (DC) but it represents the Empire of the city - which has flown in representation of Washington as military hub, London<sup>1</sup> being the financial hub, and the Vatican being the spiritual hub of the Illuminatist Jesuit NWO. All three cities have their own police, their own mail system, and their own laws.

The Muslim Brotherhood (Hizb al-Ikhwan al-Muslimun) logo fits its motto:

"Allah is our objective. The Prophet is our leader. The Qur'an is our law. Jihad is our way. Dying in the way of Allah is our highest hope. Allahu akbar!"

On The Muslim Brotherhood

Anyone who spends minute looking into the rise of ISIS knows that the U.S. played a huge hand in creating them: They spend millions of dollars training and arming rebels across the region; they completely dismantled the government in Iraq and then left the country in complete shambles with an incredibly weak public regime in place; and, of course, the U.S. continues to mess around in the area angering people who were sickened being part of the American war dream. In fact, the U.S. government just formed an entire new command to combat ISIS called the Combined Joint Task Force - Operation Inherent Resolve, which is led by Army Lieutenant General James Terry. Its purpose is to oversee coalition and U.S. operations based overseas. Previously, U.S. Central Command had been in charge of the formation of a new task force, which has experts scratching their heads... because they just can't see why yet another task force was created! Officials of the new command refuse to say where the new operation will be headquartered - an official statement was released which indicated that the new command held a conference of coalition partners somewhere in southeast Asia earlier this month - and a statement that leaders from all over the world shared ideas and engaged in dialogue about their roles at the conference. You can be sure the new combined joint task force operation will be a big money maker for the same people who always profit from the military-industrial complex - just watch how much money is dumped into this new command.

That a new patch for U.S. troops closely resembles a Muslim Brotherhood / ISIS logo only goes to show who controls both! Believe it or not, American soldiers fighting against ISIS in Syria and Iraq will actually be wearing the emblem of ISIS (Islamic State of Iraq and ash-Sham aka Israel Secret Intelligence Service) - the infamous crossed-swords logo. It is a reflection of both the ISIS crossed swords and the symbol of the Muslim Brotherhood. Both branches riding under the same ruling class and operating on the same beliefs. It shows they fight for D.C. - not America! They fight for the Beast - through trickery - in a counterproductive Obama-led war against the notorious and shamefully exploitative Jihadist army.

The logo of the double sword for the U.S. troops known as the Operation Inherent Resolve, which is better known as the fight against ISIL (Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant), is seen fitting - as "symbolically, the double sword cuts both ways, and plays of opposite goals, and embraces conflict, which creates chaos, and begs for a savior and a solution." The U.S. hypocrisy is becoming visible as the West builds up and unleashes terrorism upon the Middle East region in order to create chaos and escalate regime change which provides the United States with a pretext for stationing troops there.

Bashar Hafez al-Assad (Arabic: بشار حافظ الأسد) "the lion" (born 1965), President of Syria, called out the United States and other Western allies for actually promoting terrorism - and providing arms, funding, training and soldiers for ISIL and other groups. In the meantime, Putin came forward and vowed to take on ISIL and defend Assad with its own fighter jets, tanks and military equipment. The genius of this move is that if Washington does indeed coordinate its efforts to fight ISIS with Moscow, the U.S. will be fighting to stabilize the very regime it sought to oust.

While the Islamic State is using barbaric tactics to remake the Middle East closer to its own vision of a Caliphate, the United States and its allies also seek to remake the Middle East, and use the specter of terrorism to aid in regime change in Syria and elsewhere.

The Middle East is only one part of the Muslim world. Europe has become an incubator for Islamist thought and political development. Since the early 1960s, Muslim Brotherhood members and sympathizers have moved to Europe and slowly but steadily established a wide and well-organized network of mosques, charities, and Islamic organizations. Unlike the larger Islamic community, the Muslim Brotherhood's ultimate goal is not simply "to help Muslims be the best citizens they can be," but rather to extend Islamic law throughout Western Civilization. Refugees who migrated from the Middle East forty years ago and their descendants now lead organizations that represent the local Muslim communities in their engagement with our political elite. Funded by generous contributors from the Persian Gulf, they preside over a centralized network that spans throughout Western Civilization. While their representatives speak about interfaith dialogue and integration on television, their mosques preach hate and warn worshippers about the evils of Western society and call for Jihad against the infidels.

"It is in the nature of Islam to dominate, not to be dominated, to impose its law on all nations and to extend its power to the entire planet."

Muslim Brotherhood founder Hassan al-Banna

The Brotherhood's goal is to turn the world into an Islamist empire. The Muslim Brotherhood, founded in Egypt in 1928, is a revolutionary fundamentalist movement to restore the caliphate and strict Shari'a law in Muslim lands and, ultimately, the world. Today, it has chapters in 80 countries. Egyptian ruler Gamal Abdel Nasser's regime was especially vigorous in its attempts to root out the Islamist opposition: Beginning in 1954, several members of the Muslim Brotherhood fled Egypt to escape arrest or assassination - West Germany provided a welcome refuge. More than anywhere else in Europe, the Muslim Brotherhood in Germany, which retains a place of key importance in Europe, not only because of its location at the heart of Europe, but also because it played host to the first major wave of Muslim Brotherhood immigrants and is host to the best-organized Brotherhood presence, has gained significant power and political acceptance. Islamist organizations in other European countries now consciously follow the model pioneered in Germany by the anti-White anti-Christian Zionist EU.

The Brotherhood wants America to fall. It tells followers to be "patient" because America "is heading towards its demise." The US is an infidel that "does not champion moral and human values and cannot lead humanity."

Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed Badi, Sept. 2010

One of the Muslim Brotherhood's first pioneers in Germany was Egyptian-born Sa'id Ramadan, the personal secretary of Muslim Brotherhood founder Hassan al-Banna. In Germany, he founded what has become one of Germany's three main Muslim organizations, the Islamische Gemeinschaft Deutschland (Islamic Society of Germany, IGD), over which he presided from 1958 to 1968. Ramadan also co-founded the Muslim World League, a well-funded organization which finances terrorism - the Saudi establishment uses the League to spread its radical interpretation of Islam throughout the Christian world.

The Brotherhood claims western democracy is "corrupt," "unrealistic," and "false."

Former Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed Mahdi Akef

The Bank al-Taqwa, a powerful conglomerate dubbed by Italian intelligence, "Bank of the Muslim Brotherhood," has financed terrorist groups since the mid-1990s if not earlier: One of the founders, Ghaleb Himmat, a Syrian with Italian citizenship, helped Youssef Nada, one of the Muslim Brotherhood's financial masterminds, run Al-Taqwa and a web of companies headquartered in locations such as Switzerland, Liechtenstein, and the Bahamas, which maintain few regulations on monetary origin or destination. Both Himmat and Nada reportedly funneled large sums to groups such as Hamas and the Algerian Islamic Salvation Front and set up a secret credit line for a top associate of Osama Bin Laden. In November 2001, the US Treasury Department designated both Himmat and Nada as terrorism financiers.

The Brotherhood assassinated Egypt's prime minister in 1948 and attempted to assassinate President Nasser in 1954 - and, in 1981, Anwar Sadat was assassinated for making peace with the hated "Zionist entity."

The Brotherhood calls for jihad against "the Muslim's real enemies, not only Israel but also the United States. Waging jihad against both of these infidels is a commandment of Allah that cannot be disregarded."

Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed Badi, Sept. 2010

Hamas is a "wing of the Muslim Brotherhood," according to the Hamas Charter (Chapter 2), which calls for the murder of Jews, the "obliteration" of Israel and its replacement with an Islamist theocracy. The Brotherhood supports Hezbollah's war against the Jews. Brotherhood leader Mahdi Akef declared he was "prepared to send 10,000 jihad fighters immediately to fight at the side of Hezbollah” during Hezbollah’s war against Israel in 2006.

The Brotherhood glorifies Osama Bin Laden. Osama is “in all certainty, a mujahid (heroic fighter), and I have no doubt in his sincerity in resisting the occupation, close to Allah on high.”

Former Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide
Muhammed Mahdi Akef, Nov. 2007

Ibrahim el-Zayat, a 36-year-old of Egyptian descent and the charismatic leader of numerous student organizations, succeeded Himmat after he resigned. IGD leaders Ramadan and Himmat are among the most prominent Muslim Brotherhood members of the last half-century. The focus on youth organizations came after Zayat's succession. He understood the importance of focusing on the next generation of German Muslims and launched recruitment drives to get young Muslims involved in Islamic organizations. German authorities openly say he is a member of the Muslim Brotherhood and also link him to the World Assembly of Muslim Youth (WAMY),<sup>2</sup> a Saudi nongovernmental organization that seeks to spread Wahhabism, the radical and intolerant Saudi interpretation of Islam, throughout the world with its literature and schools.

The Brotherhood “sanctioned martyrdom operations in Palestine... they do not have bombs, so they turn themselves into bombs. This is a necessity.”

Muslim Brotherhood Spiritual leader Yusuf al-Qaradawi, 17 Dec. 2010

Of all of Zayat's financial activities, the one that has attracted the German authorities' greatest suspicion has been his association with officials of Milli Görüş (National Vision, in Turkish). Milli Görüş, which has 30,000 members and perhaps another 100,000 sympathizers, claims to defend the rights of Germany's immigrant Turkish population, giving them a voice in the democratic political arena while “preserving their Islamic identity.” Milli Görüş pushes an agenda similar to that of the IGD, even if its target is more limited; nevertheless, both Milli Görüş and the IGD collaborate on many initiatives. But Milli Görüş has another agenda: While publicly declaring its interest in democratic debate and a willingness to see Turkish immigrants integrated into European societies, Milli Görüş leaders express contempt for democracy and Western values. IGD and Milli Görüş are active in their efforts to increase political influence and become the official representatives of the German Muslim community. The Bundesverfassungsschutz, Germany's domestic intelligence agency, has repeatedly warned about Milli Görüş' activities, describing the group in its annual reports as a “foreign extremist organization.”

The Brotherhood advocates violent jihad: The “change that the [Muslim] nation seeks can only be attained through jihad and sacrifice and by raising a Jihadi generation that pursues death just as the enemies pursue life,” said Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed Badi in a September 2010 sermon. Major terrorists came out of the Muslim Brotherhood, including Bin Laden’s deputy Ayman Muhammad Rabaie al-Zawahiri and Khalid Sheikh Mohammed<sup>2</sup> (mastermind of the 9/11 attacks).

The Brotherhood uses democracy, but once in power it will replace democracy with fundamentalist Shari'a law because it is the “true democracy.” “The final, absolute message from heaven contains all the values which the secular world claims to have invented.... Islam and its values antedated the West by founding true democracy.”

Former Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide
Muhammed Mahdi Akef, Nov. 2007

The Brotherhood’s view of women’s rights is to subjugate and segregate women: The ideal society would include “a campaign against ostentation in dress and loose behaviour... segregation of male and female students; private meetings between men and women, unless within the permitted degrees of relationship, to be counted as a crime for which both will be censured... prohibition of dancing and other such pastimes.”

Muslim Brotherhood founder Hassan al-Banna, Five Tracts

The Brotherhood will not treat non-Muslim minorities, such as Coptic Christians, as equals. “Allah's word will reign supreme and the infidels' word will be inferior.”

Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed Badi,
Sept. 2010

The Brotherhood refuses to commit to continuing the Israel-Egypt peace treaty. Muslim Brotherhood leaders have said that “as far as the movement is concerned, Israel is a Zionist entity occupying holy Arab and Islamic lands...and we will get rid of it no matter how long it takes.”

Former Muslim Brotherhood Supreme Guide Muhammed
Mahdi Akef, 2005 and 2007

The Brotherhood has anti-Semitic roots. It supported the Nazis, organized mass demonstrations against the Jews with slogans promoting ethnic cleansing like “Down with the Jews!” and “Jews get out of Egypt and Palestine!” in 1936; carried out a violent pogrom against Egypt’s Jews in November 1945; and made sure that Nazi collaborator and Palestinian Mufti al-Husseini was granted asylum in Egypt in 1946.

The Brotherhood remains virulently anti-Semitic: “Today the Jews are not the Israelites praised by Allah, but the descendants of the Israelites who defied His word. Allah was angry with them and turned them into monkeys and pig. There is no doubt that the battle in which the Muslims overcome the Jews [will come]. In that battle the Muslims will fight the Jews and kill them.”

Muslim Brotherhood Spiritual leader Yusuf al-Qaradawi

In October 2015, Israeli prime minister, Binyamin Netanyahu, has attracted a storm of criticism for an incendiary speech in which he accused the second world war Palestinian grand mufti of Jerusalem of having suggested the genocide of the Jews to Adolf Hitler. Netanyahu purported to describe a meeting between Haj Amin al-Husseini and Hitler in November 1941.

“Hitler didn’t want to exterminate the Jews at the time, he wanted to expel the Jews. And Haj Amin al-Husseini went to Hitler and said: ‘If you expel them, they’ll all come here [to Palestine].’”

According to Netanyahu, Hitler then asked: “What should I do with them?” and the mufti replied: “Burn them.”

Defending his comments, Netanyahu said: “I didn’t mean to absolve Hitler of responsibility, but to show that the father of the Palestinian nation wanted to destroy Jews even without occupation.”

In September 1941, again before Hussein’s meeting with Hitler, Einsatzgruppe C, commanded by Dr. Otto Rasch,<sup>3</sup> killed more than 33,000 Jews over two days in the Babi Yar ravine on the northwestern outskirts of the Ukrainian capital - Kiev, an act of mass murder ordered by the new Nazi military governor of Kiev, Maj. Gen. Kurt Eberhardt.<sup>4</sup>

The Jewish underground resistance, the Palmach, had already been trained and financed by the British government, which in all other domains was an adversary of the Zionist movement - and hundreds, perhaps thousands of young Jews, would be trained in guerrilla warfare under Palmach commanders Yigal Allon and Moshe Dayan. This Israeli generation - like Jewish commando Hannah Senesh - belonged to a different world than that of their fathers... their image of themselves was as clear as the Summer Sun and just as uncomplicated. From the beginning, the Jews of Palestine, longed to fight the Nazis under their own flag.

The Jews saw the Nazis as their most hated enemies - and long before the Hitler government began restricting the rights of the German Jews, the leaders of the worldwide Jewish community formally declared war on Germany at a time when the U.S. government and even the Jewish leaders in Germany were urging caution in dealing with Adolf Hitler shortly after the NSDAP came to power. The 24 March 1933 issue of The Daily Express of London described how Jewish leaders, in combination with powerful international Jewish financial interests, had launched a boycott of Germany for the express purpose of crippling her already precarious economy in the hope of bringing down the new Hitler regime. It was only then that Germany struck back in response. Thus, if truth be told, it was the worldwide Jewish leadership - not the Third Reich - that effectively fired the first shot in the Second World War. Prominent New York Jewish attorney ☆ Samuel Untermyer, a millionaire, was one of the leading agitators in the war against Germany, describing the Jewish campaign as nothing less than a "holy war" - so as to understand Hitler's reaction to the Jewish declaration of war,<sup>5</sup> it is vital to understand the critical state of the German economy at the time: In 1933, the German economy was in a shambles - some 3 million Germans were on public assistance with a total of 6 million unemployed; hyper-inflation had destroyed the economic vitality of the German nation; furthermore, the Zionist anti-German propaganda pouring out of the global press strengthened the resolve of Germany's enemies, especially the Poles and their hawkish military high command.

Meanwhile, the Arabs were generally supportive of the Nazis - and for the nationalist and religious leader Grand Mufti Haj Amin al-Husseini there was a certain logic to their allegiance.

"It was very simple to us... Germany was the enemy of our enemy... so, the enemy of our enemy is our friend."

Anwar al-Sadat (1918 - 1981) [See Endnote 1.]

In 1941, Haj Amin al-Husseini fled to Germany and met with Adolf Hitler, Heinrich Himmler, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and other Nazi leaders. The Grand Mufti wanted to persuade them to extend the Nazis' anti-Jewish program to the Arab world. In 1945, Yugoslavia sought to indict the Mufti as a war criminal for his role in recruiting 20,000 Muslim volunteers for the SS, who participated in the killing of Jews in Croatia and Hungary. He escaped from French detention in 1946, however, and continued his fight against the Jews from Cairo and later Beirut. He died in 1974.

Against the background of a possible German invasion of Palestine on 16 May 1941, the Palmach was created to establish an elite ready reserve for the Haganah: a Jewish paramilitary organization in what was then the British Mandate of Palestine from 1920 to 1948, which later became the core of the Israel Defense Forces (IDF). The Palmach consisted of full time soldiers, who worked 14 days per month on kibbutzim - establishing collective communities in Israel that were traditionally based on agriculture - and trained for another 10 days. Between 1941 and 1943, there was close cooperation between the Palmach and the British, with the British using Palmach units for behind-the-lines assaults in Vichy-dominated Lebanon and Syria. By 1943, as the Axis threat receded, the British began to fear that the Palmach might become a threat to their continued rule in Palestine, and they therefore began to make unsuccessful attempts to suppress the Palmach. From late 1945 to mid-1946, the Palmach worked together with the Irgun - a Zionist paramilitary organization that operated in Mandate Palestine between 1931 and 1948 - in attempting to undermine British rule in Palestine. From 1946 until 1947, the Palmach concentrated on helping to facilitate Jewish emigration to Palestine. When the War of Independence began, the Palmach was the only ready standing army available to repel the Arab attack. The Palmach fought valiantly during the war, but sustained heavy casualties. At the end of the war, ☆ David Ben-Gurion (Hebrew: דָּוִד בֶּן-גּוּרִיּוֹן), the first Prime Minister of Israel and widely hailed as the State's main founder, dissolved the independent structure of the Palmach, and merged it into the IDF.

The Irgun aka Etzel was a Zionist paramilitary organization that operated in Mandate Palestine between 1931 and 1948. Irgun policy was based on what was then called Revisionist Zionism founded by Russian Jew ☆ Vladimir Yevgenyevich Zhabotinsky aka Ze'ev Jabotinsky (1880-1940), who advocated a "revision" of the "practical Zionism" of David Ben-Gurion and Chaim Weizmann. Revisionist Zionism was based on a vision of "political Zionism", which Jabotinsky regarded as following the legacy of ☆ Theodor Herzl, the founder of modern political Zionism.

Zentralrat der Muslime

In 1989, under the auspices of Abdullah at-Turki, powerful dean of Bin Saud University in Riyadh, the Saudis created the Islamische Konzil Deutschland (Islamic Council of Germany). Turki assumed the presidency with other top positions held by Ibrahim el-Zayat, Hasan Özdögan, a high-ranking Milli Görüş official, and Ahmad Khalifa, an officer from the Islamic Center of Munich. While an official German parliament report describes the Islamische Konzil as just "another Sunni organization," such an assumption indicates a dangerous misunderstanding of the Saudi relationship to German Islamists.

The trend toward consolidation took a step forward in 1994 when German Islamists realized that a united coalition translated into greater political relevance and influence. Nineteen organizations, including the IGD, the Islamic Center of Munich, and the Islamic Center of Aachen, created an umbrella organization, the Zentralrat der Muslime. According to a senior German intelligence official, at least nine out of these nineteen organizations belong to the Muslim Brotherhood

The Zentralrat president, Nadeem Elyas, a German-educated Saudi physician and an official of the Islamic Center of Aachen has been linked to Christian Ganczarski, an al-Qaeda operative currently jailed as one of the masterminds of the 2002 attack on a Tunisian synagogue. Ganczarski, a German of Polish descent who converted to Islam, told authorities that al-Qaeda recruited him at the Islamic University of Medina where Elyas sent him to study. Elyas said he could not remember meeting him but did not deny the possibility that Ganczarski, who never completed high school, might have been one of the many individuals he had sent over the years to radical schools in Saudi Arabia. Saudi donors paid all of Ganczarski's expenses. Ganczarski was not alone. Elyas admitted to having sent hundreds of German Muslims to study at one of the most radical universities in Saudi Arabia.

Many German politicians are uninformed about Islam and do not understand that the view and the interpretation of Islam that the Zentralrat expresses, as does the IGD and Milli Görüş, is that of the Muslim Brotherhood - the problem is that the Zentralrat neither represents nor tolerates those with divergent views. With ample Saudi financing, the Muslim Brotherhood has managed to become the voice of the Muslims in Germany.

The Brotherhood advocates a deceptive strategy in democracies: appear moderate and use existing institutions to gain power.

"The civilizational-jihadist process is a kind of grand jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and 'sabotaging' its miserable house... so that it is eliminated and God's religion is made victorious over all other religions," reads a US Muslim Brotherhood 1991 document. It believes it can conquer Europe peacefully: "After having been expelled twice, Islam will be victorious and reconquer Europe... I am certain that this time, victory will be won not by the sword but by preaching and [Islamic] ideology."

Muslim Brotherhood Spiritual leader Yusuf al-Qaradawi, "Fatwa," 2003

Imprisoned leaders of the Muslim Brotherhood claimed they have incriminating evidence on President Barack Obama. One Muslim Brotherhood leader Mohammed Khairat Saad el-Shater alleged Obama knows full well that the fate, future interest, and reputation of the U.S. is in his hands. Obama knows that he owns information - documents and recordings that incriminate him and when could end the country. In response, Obama sent a group of Senators and state Department officials to Egypt to meet with Muslim Brotherhood leaders. Obama ordered the group to persuade Egyptian officials into releasing the radical Islamist leaders in exchange for keeping information concealed. The Egyptian government is refusing to release the prisoners and called Obama's interference in Egypt in politics unacceptable - meanwhile, el-Shater is warning Americans about their corrupt president and said that if the U.S. government doesn't get him released from prison he'll disclose all Obama secrets: Obama as a member of the Muslim Brotherhood.

Conversely, Hillary Clinton has only one accomplishment - bombing Libya in support of a Muslim Brotherhood takeover.

The Pentagon fought Hillary's illegal Libyan War every step of the way. Both the Secretary of Defense and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs opposed Hillary's plan to bomb Libya. One of the Chairman's top aides said that he did not trust the reports coming out of the State Department and the CIA, then controlled by Clinton loyalist Leon Panetta: In January 2009, Obama nominated Panetta for the post of CIA Director - as director of the CIA, Panetta oversaw the U.S. military operation that led to Osama Bin Laden's death. [See Endnote 7.]

ISIS Islamic Terrorists are Supported by the US, Israel and Saudi Arabia

Who's Really Pulling the Strings?

A Free Syrian Army commander, arrested last month by the Islamist militia Al-Nusra Front, told his captors he collaborated with Israel in return for medical and military support, in a video released this week. Read more: Syrian rebel commander says he collaborated with Israel.

In a video uploaded to YouTube Monday ... Sharif As-Safouri, the commander of the Free Syrian Army's Al-Haramain Battalion, admitted to having entered Israel five times to meet with Israeli officers who later provided him with Soviet anti-tank weapons and light arms. Safouri was abducted by the al-Qaeda-affiliated Al-Nusra Front in the Quneitra area, near the Israeli border, on July 22.

"The [opposition] factions would receive support and send the injured in [to Israel] on condition that the Israeli fence area is secured. No person was allowed to come near the fence without prior coordination with Israel authorities," Safouri said in the video.

In the edited confession video, in which Safouri seems physically unharmed, he says that at first he met with an Israeli officer named Ashraf at the border and was given an Israeli cellular phone. He later met with another officer named Younis and with the two men's commander, Abu Daoud. In total, Safouri said he entered Israel five times for meetings that took place in Tiberias.

Following the meetings, Israel began providing Safouri and his men with "basic medical support and clothes" as well as weapons, which included 30 Russian [rifles], 10 RPG launchers with 47 rockets, and 48,000 5.56 millimeter bullets.

Also on Wednesday, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency – a 97-year old Jewish wire service – reported:

A senior employee of the Dutch Justice Ministry said the jihadist group ISIS was created by Zionists seeking to give Islam a bad reputation. Yasmina Haifi, a project leader at the ministry's National Cyber Security Center, made the assertion Wednesday on Twitter, the De Telegraaf daily reported.

"ISIS has nothing to do with Islam. It's part of a plan by Zionists who are deliberately trying to blacken Islam's name," wrote Haifi ....

In March, Haaretz reported:

The Syrian opposition is willing to give up claims to the Golan Heights in return for cash and Israeli military aid against President Bashar Assad, a top opposition official told Al Arab newspaper, according to a report in Al Alam.

***

The Western-backed militant groups want Israel to enforce a no-fly zone over parts of southern Syria to protect rebel bases from air strikes by Assad's forces, according to the report.

World Net Daily reports that the U.S. trained Islamic jihadis – who would later join ISIS – in Jordan.

The Jerusalem Post reports that an ISIS fighter says that Turkey funds the terrorist group. Turkey is a member of NATO and – at least until very recently – a close U.S. ally.

Wealthy donors in U.S. allies Kuwait and Qatar back ISIS, and Western intelligence officials say that those governments must be approving the support.

A former high-level Al Qaeda commander has repeatedly alleged that ISIS works for the CIA.

In June, investment adviser Jim Willie alleged:

The [ISIS] troops that are working there [in Syria and Iraq] are Langley [i.e. CIA] troops. They're trained, funded, and armed by Langley.

What I'm hearing... the U.S. military (Pentagon regulars), and you have to be careful when you refer to U.S. military anymore. What kind of U.S. military? Is it the Pentagon U.S. Army, or is it the Langley military, which has unmarked uniforms and 10's of thousands of mercenaries?

They're about to encounter each other in Iraq. The U.S. military Pentagon regulars evacuated Iraq, and what filled the vacuum was the Langley mercenaries, trained for Syria, that migrated South and announced their new agenda.

If and when the Pentagon regulars encounter the Langley mercenaries in Iraq, Obama's going to get a house call, because U.S. military will be fighting U.S. military. Pentagon vs. Langley.

While we don't know which of the above-described allegations are true, two things are certain:

The U.S. armed Islamic jihadis in Syria, and their weapons ended up in the hands of ISIS; and

Close allies of the U.S. have supported and trained the ISIS terrorists

Why would the U.S. and its allies back ISIS, when they are barbarian Islamic terrorists? Well – assuming it's true – oil and gas could be the explanation.

After all, there is evidence that the U.S. and her allies have wanted to break up the nations of Iraq and Syria for decades. And ISIS has done so.

In any event – whether or not it's true of ISIS – it's well-documented that the U.S., Saudis and Israel have been backing the world's most dangerous and radical Muslim terrorists for decades. And see this. And anyone who looks at the battle against ISIS as a religious war is being played.

The 10 Most Evil Teachings In History

Following are the 10 most evil teachings in history that surprisingly are divine teachings of Islamic God Allah. Obviously, Islam's Allah was not the God whom the pre-Islamic Arabs used to worship as their God, but was the alter-ego of Muhammad. Every word of the Qu'ran was Muhammad's own, which he put on the tongue of his imaginary friend Allah (aka Muhammad). Islam is out-and-out fraudulent.

1: Islam's paradise of evil, demented, depraved sexual perversity:

Sura 9:111: Muslim's passport to paradise: "Lo! Allah hath bought from the believers their lives and their wealth because the Garden will be theirs: they shall fight in the way of Allah and shall slay and be slain. It is a promise which is binding on Him in the Torah and the Gospel and the Qur'an. Who fulfilleth His covenant better than Allah? Rejoice then in your bargain that ye have made, for that is the supreme triumph."

Islam teaches that if Muslims slay or are slain (kill or are killed) in the service of God, i.e. Jihad, they are guaranteed accession to Allah's paradise of depraved sexual perversity. Islam's Paradise is filled with whorish virgins possessing voluptuous breasts and lustrous eyes. Muslims, blessed with an access to Paradise, will have 72 such virgins to engage in incessant copulation. Furthermore, a Muslim's surest way of getting a passport to Paradise is to get slain while trying to kill the kafirs. The Qur'an is no more a holy book than Playboy, Penthouse, and Hustler are holy books. Indeed, the Qur'an is worse in that it incites unrestrained murder of infidels.

2: Kill the infidels wherever you find them:

Sura 9:5 (the infamous verse of the sword inciting mass murder): "Then, when the sacred months have passed, slay the idolaters wherever ye find them, and take them (captive), and besiege them, and prepare for them each ambush. But if they repent and establish worship and pay the poor-due, then leave their way free. Lo! Allah is Forgiving, Merciful."

Verse 9:5 teaches Muslims to commit mass-murder. The kafirs must either convert to Islam, who would keep up prayer and pay the poor-rate (zakat), or be murdered. Command for unconditional slaying of humans, God's own creations, by other humans - when presented as a sacred teaching of the almighty Creator - becomes a most evil teaching. Needless to say, such teachings never came from God.

3: Extortion verse:

Sura 9:29: "Fight against such of those who have been given the Scripture as believe not in Allah nor the Last Day, and forbid not that which Allah hath forbidden by His messenger, and follow not the Religion of Truth, until they pay the tribute readily, being brought low."

Here, Allah the Islamic God commands Muslims to attack and kill the so-called "people of the book" (i.e. Jews and Christians), until they are defeated and submitted to the supremacy of Islam and, in willing humiliation, pay jizya (submission) tax to Muslims. Like sura 9:5, sura 9:29 is a call to mass murder and extermination. Only the Jew ☆ Stalin had openly instructed his followers to exterminate the Russians, Ukrainians and Germans so completely. When such a teaching is presented as a teaching of the Creator of the Universe, it becomes extremely evil.

4: Verse of barbaric cruelty:

Sura 5:32-33: In order to portray Islam as a wonderful religion, Muslim taqiyah tacticians, including President Obama, will always quote the verse 5:32, which says: "We decreed for the Children of Israel that whosoever killeth a human being for other than manslaughter or corruption in the earth, it shall be as if he had killed all mankind, and whoso saveth the life of one, it shall be as if he had saved the life of all mankind."

Verse 5:32 is a teaching of mass extermination and genocide. When President Barack Obama gave his hypocritical speech in Cairo, he quoted from Verse 5:32, saying: "whosoever killeth a human being, it shall be as if he had killed all mankind, and whoso saveth the life of one, it shall be as if he had saved the life of all mankind."

But Obama did not actually quote Verse 5:32 - he left out a most important part of the teaching. God has created in his infinite wisdom two exceptions to his teaching: "whosoever killeth a human being for other than manslaughter or corruption in the earth, it shall be as if he had killed all mankind." We can killeth a human being for manslaughter and corruption in the earth and it will not be the killing of all mankind. And what does the exception "corruption in the land" mean? all human beings who do not convert to Islam have declared war on Islam and Allah, are a danger to Allah, and therefore have created corruption in the land and must be murdered. All Apostates of Islam by rejecting Islam are creating corruption in the land. Muslim women who demand equality with men are creating corruption in the land. All Muslim girls who refuse to obey their fathers by adopting Western culture are creating corruption in the land. And on and on. The President quoted a teaching that justifies the mass murder of 305,000,000 Americans who are non-Muslim. This is a teaching of madness masquerading as a teaching of love. And how are the kafirs to be murdered for making "corruption in the land." Read the following Verse 5:33

Sura 5:33 says: "The only reward of those who make war upon Allah and His messenger and strive after corruption in the land will be that they will be killed or crucified, or have their hands and feet on alternate sides cut off, or will be expelled out of the land. Such will be their degradation in the world, and in the Hereafter theirs will be an awful doom;"

Teachings as contained in this verse - "they will be killed or crucified, or have their hands and feet on alternate sides cut off, or will be expelled out of the land" - are cruel and barbaric in nature. When those teachings are presented as God's, it becomes extremely evil, no better than the Zionists are committing in the Levant against the poor Palestinian peoples.

5: Allah's teaching of pedophilia:

Sura 65:4: "And those of your women as have passed the age of monthly courses, for them the 'Iddah (prescribed divorce period), if you have doubts (about their periods), is three months, and for those who have no courses [(i.e. they are still immature) their 'Iddah (prescribed period) is three months likewise, except in case of death]. And for those who are pregnant (whether they are divorced or their husbands are dead), their 'Iddah (prescribed period) is until they deliver (their burdens) (give birth) and whosoever fears Allah and keeps his duty to Him, He will make his matter easy for him."

The most important duty of any species is the care and protection of its young. The prime duty of mankind is to raise children in a safe and caring environment, so they can progress into responsible adults. There is no worse crime than the sexual abuse and exploitation of children. But verse 65:4 clearly approves marriages and sexual copulation with pre-pubescent little girls, who haven't started menstruating yet. And Muhammad at the age of 50 duly complied with this sanction of Allah by marrying his niece Aisha, only 6 years old. This is an extremely evil teaching. Allah is a pedophile monster.

6: Sanctioning unrestrained slavery and rape for Muhammad by his Allah:

Sura 33:50 says: "O Prophet! surely We have made lawful to you your wives whom you have given their dowries, and those [slaves] whom your right hand possesses out of those whom Allah has given to you as prisoners of war, and the daughters of your paternal uncles and the daughters of your paternal aunts, and the daughters of your maternal uncles and the daughters of your maternal aunts who fled with you; and a believing woman if she gave herself to the Prophet, if the Prophet desired to marry her - specially for you, not for the (rest of) believers; We know what We have ordained for them concerning their wives and those whom their right hands possess in order that no blame may attach to you; and Allah is Forgiving, Merciful".

The term "possessions of the right hand" mean slaves. It is expressly stated that Muhammad's slaves, which he attained as a share of the captives in raiding infidels communities, were actually given to him by Allah Himself. And Allah also makes raping them halal for Muhammad (and his Muslim followers). The verse also gives a special privilege to Muhammad to marry as many wives as he desires, beyond the restriction of four wives for ordinary Muslims. When God's teachings encourage a people to wage wars to capture the women for raping as well as encourages His holy prophet to engage in unrestrained marriage for sexual gratification, there can't be a teaching as evil as this in such matters.

7: Sanction of wife beating:

Sura 4:34 - "Men are the maintainers of women because Allah has made some of them to excel others and because they spend out of their property; the good women are therefore obedient, guarding the unseen as Allah has guarded; and (as to) those on whose part you fear desertion, admonish them, and leave them alone in the sleeping-places and beat them; then if they obey you, do not seek a way against them; surely Allah is High, Great."

A Muslim woman is the property of her husband. A Muslim husband has the legal right and religious obligation to beat a wife if she disobeys him, is disloyal to him or simply does not please him. The concept of wife abuse does not exist in Islam. There is no concept of marital rape. A Muslim woman cannot refuse sex with her husband. According to Islamic law, a husband may strike his wife for any one of the following four reasons:

She does not attempt to make herself beautiful for him (i.e. "let's herself go").

She refuses to meet his sexual demands.

She leaves the house without his permission or a "legitimate reason."

She neglects her religious duties.

Any of these are also sufficient grounds for divorce. These are evil affronts to the idea of equality and dignity of women - very evil teachings, indeed.

8: Allah takes a shares of plundered booty:

Sura 8:41: "And know that out of all the booty that ye may acquire (in war), a fifth share is assigned to Allah, - and to the Messenger, and to near relatives, orphans, the needy, and the wayfarer - if ye do believe in Allah and in the revelation We sent down to Our servant on the Day of Testing - the Day of the meeting of the two forces. For Allah hath power over all things."

This verse was revealed about how the booty captured in wars - such as after attacking and mass-slaughtering the Jews of Banu Quraiza - would be distributed. And most horribly the Islamic Allah Himself claims a share of the booty along with His prophet. God is the Creator of everything in the Universe. When that God encourages some people to attack and mass-murder others, so He Himself can take a share from the wealth plundered from those murder people - no evil can get higher than this.

9: Allah is a barbarian:

Sura 24:2 says: "The woman and the man guilty of adultery or fornication - flog each of them with a hundred stripes: Let not compassion move you in their case, in a matter prescribed by God, if ye believe in God and the Last Day: and let a party of the Believers witness their punishment."

This verse says that Muslims must not have mercy on people, who commit adultery or fornication, and punish them brutally with 100 lashes in public. However, since other verses in the Qur'an specifically allow men to have sex slaves, the horrible crime of serial rape against a non-Muslim woman is not considered adultery or fornication and would not be punished as the woman would be considered God-given concubine. What kind of person could flog a woman 100 times for having sex with the man she loves? On the other hand, Islamic God, evil as He is, allows men to force sex upon their unwilling wives (verse 4:34). Undoubtedly the God of Islam is out and out barbaric to sanction evil teachings such as these.

10: Teachings of torture, enslavement, beheading cruelty, eye-for-eye:

There is a gigantic tie for the tenth most evil teaching. There are 3990 teachings of the Qur'an that are equally evil. All these teachings are immoral depravity. Not being words/teachings of Moral Perfection - the Qur'an is not Moral Perfection and therefore not from God, therefore Allah is not God but the Anti-God and Muhammad is no prophet. Following is a very small sample of further Qur'anic depravity:

Torture

Sura 22:19-22: "fight and slay the Pagans, seize them, beleaguer them, and lie in wait for them in every stratagem" "for them (the unbelievers) garments of fire shall be cut and there shall be poured over their heads boiling water whereby whatever is in their bowels and skin shall be dissolved and they will be punished with hooked iron rods"

Slavery

Sura 2.178: "O you who believe! retaliation is prescribed for you in the matter of the slain, the free for the free, and the slave for the slave, and the female for the female, but if any remission is made to any one by his (aggrieved) brother, then prosecution (for the bloodwit) should be made according to usage, and payment should be made to him in a good manner; this is an alleviation from your Lord and a mercy; so whoever exceeds the limit after this he shall have a painful chastisement."

You kill one of my slaves, females or free man and I'll kill one of your slaves, females or free man.

Barbaric Cruelty

Sura 5:38: "Cut off the hands of thieves, whether they are male or female, as punishment for what they have done-a deterrent from God: God is almighty and wise."

Sura 5:39 "But if anyone repents after his wrongdoing and makes amends, God will accept his repentance: God is most forgiving and merciful."

Eye for an Eye

Sura 5:45: "And We prescribed for them therein: The life for the life, and the eye for the eye, and the nose for the nose, and the ear for the ear, and the tooth for the tooth, and for wounds retaliation. But whoso forgoeth it (in the way of charity) it shall be expiation for him. Whoso judgeth not by that which Allah hath revealed such as wrong-doers."

Beheading

Sura 8:12: "Remember thy Lord inspired the angels (with the message): "I am with you: give firmness to the Believers: I will instill terror into the hearts of the Unbelievers: smite ye above their necks and smite all their finger-tips off them."

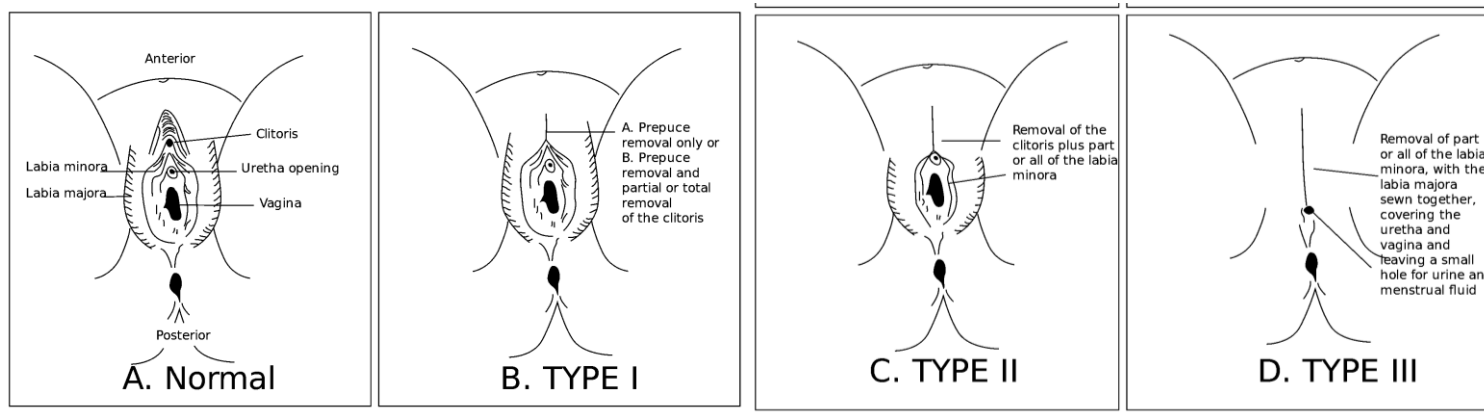

There are 75 teachings of beheading in Qur'an.

Slaughtering

Sura 8:67: "It is not for any prophet to have captives until he hath made slaughter in the land. Ye desire the lure of this world and Allah desireth (for you) the Hereafter, and Allah is Mighty, Wise."

Allah insisting the Prophet to kill all the prisoners, and should not keep any surrendered prisoners alive until He (the Prophet) occupied entire Arabia. The Qur'an is a mine of most evil teachings human history has ever seen. Islam is out and out Evil in the Name of God.

Female Genital Mutilation

The Brotherhood supports Female Genital Mutilation: "[the Americans] wage war on Muslim leaders, the traditions of its faith and its ideas. They even wage war against female circumcision, a practice current in 36 countries, which has been prevalent since the time of the Pharaohs."

Footnotes

Like Vatican City, London's inner city is also a privately owned corporation or city-state located right in the middle of Greater London - it became a sovereign state in 1694, when King William III of Orange privatized and turned the Bank of England over to the international Ashkenazi-mafia banksters. Today, the city-state of London is the world's financial power center - and the wealthiest square mile on the face of the earth: it houses the ☆ Rothschild-controlled Bank of England, Lloyds of London, the London Stock Exchange, all British banks, the branch offices 385 foreign banks, and 70 U.S. banks; it has its own courts, its own laws, its own flag, and its own police force, and is not part of Greater London or England or the British Commonwealth and pays no taxes; the city-state of London houses Fleet Street's newspaper and publishing monopolies... it is also the headquarters for worldwide English freemasonry and headquarters for the worldwide money cartel known as the Crown. Contrary to popular belief, the Crown is not the Royal Family or the British Monarch - the Crown is the private corporate city-state of London - it has a counsel of 12 members who rule the corporation under a mayor, called the Lord Mayor. The Lord Mayor and his 12-member council serves as proxies are representatives who sit in for 12 of the world's wealthiest and most powerful banking families, including: the Rothschild family, the Warburg family, the Oppenheimer family, and the Schiff family: (The Rothschilds are "Trillionaires" worth an est. 500 Trillion; the Rockefellers are worth an est. 25 Trillion). These families and their descendants run the Crown corporation of London. The Crown corporation holds the title to world-wide Crown land in Crown colonies like Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. British Parliament and the British Prime Minister serve as a public front for the hidden power of these ruling crown families.

As you may know, the Federal Reserve is not a governmental agency, but it is a private bank [i.e. Rothschilds, Warburgs etc.] that lends our government money. Our tax money is collected by the I.R.S. and sent directly to the Federal Reserve banking system. Eight families own the Federal Reserve Corporation with Rothschilds owning 53%, they also own the IRS Corporation, Reuters, the AP, ABC, CBS and NBC, Royal Dutch Shell, DeBeers Diamonds, Bank of England and so on and so on.

Our government is financed much in the same way as you might finance your home. The politicians spend so much money that there is no way that the taxes collected would be enough to pay for all their activities. So, they borrow money from the banking cartels, and they tell the banking cartels that they can go get the money from the citizens - the more citizens the country has, the more money is being deposited in the banks, the more money the central banks will print for each country's government - which accounts for the tsunamigration of foreign-born Third World subhuman scum being directed into Western Civilization - especially Muslims from Africa and the Middle East.

Our nationalism must be effaced by these ZOG tyrants, their political corporocracy, their militaristic police state, and these strangers imported into our midst who are intended to eugenically brown us out through miscegenation and replace us as a race in the inevitable world-wide Unholy Civil War which they are fostering - including the Zio-media's on-going war of propaganda waged against the naive amongst us who haply sell out our freedoms and established institutions, such as our ancestral heritage, language, demographic identity, religion, etc... promoting instead the destruction of sovereign family values, chemical drugs and perverted lifestyles through the homosexualization of our sons and the MK-Ultra sexualization of our daughters.

Our government sold us to the banking cartels as collateral many years ago. We are property used as collateral for the loans that our politicians take out against us. We are slaves - literally. This is how and why they are talking about massive population reduction whilst flooding our nations in recession with Jihadistic Muslims - they are fostering White Genocide - to this end, Ebola has become a sexually transmitted disease, mandatory vaccinations pushed on us by Big Pharma are causing autism, Morgellons syndrome is becoming commonplace as more-and-more people awaken to the problems associated with the HAARP and clandestine chemtrail aerosol spraying, and euthanasia and late-term abortions programs are being introduced. Not to mention the technocrats associated with the CERN Large Hadron Collider (LHC) in Switzerland, who are attempting to tear holes in Space-Time into imagined alternate dimensions and create destructive Stranglets, of all things, the Great Pacific Garbage Patch, the Chernobyl and Fukushima disasters, and the plausibility of an EMT knocking us back into a niggerized Dark Age and threatened with massive destruction because of a limited thermonuclear and bio-chemical Third World War: Expect it - these are the same sons-of-bitches which have wreaked hell upon us since time immemorial. Just what the hell do you think is going to happen when shelves in shopping centers and grocery stores are empty, and the water and electricity cease to flow, when gas is too expensive, poverty and homelessness is out of control, so that military law is established and tanks are in the streets and strange flying machines in the air - whilst all the while the bastards are still bringing in more-and-more refugees, immigrants and temporary foreign workers and students? not to mention the lack of morals or decency in our elected officials these being associated with criminal negligence, international war crimes and domestic crimes against humanity, including prostitution and slavery and the drug trade.

Bhinderanwale, a key figure in the secessionist Khalistan movement, was killed in Operation Blue Star. Initially, the ISYF split into two factions - one owing allegiance to Jasbir Singh Rode and led by his elder brother Lakhbir Singh Brar Rode, also a nephew of Bhinderanwale - and the other led by Satinderpal Singh Gill, a former member of the second Panthic Committee. Soon thereafter, more splits occurred and several splinter groups emerged.

Lakhbir Singh Rode was a "hardcore terrorist" - among the 20 most wanted terrorists whose extradition India sought from Pakistan in the wake of the 13 December 2001 attack on India's Parliament by a five-member group of Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) terrorists. In 2008, ISI made serious attempts to revive Sikh militancy in India by coordinating and establishing linkages among various terrorist outfits with the Sikh extremist leaders. The ISI activities to this extent had been planned from countries like the U.S., Canada, Germany, U.K., France, Norway, and Belgium, besides Pakistan in absence of ground support in India. The various terror groups established a nexus amongst themselves in terms of financial and logistical support, sharing of information and tactical planning.

Addressing the media in Vancouver, on 10 February 2002, ISYF spokesperson Amrit Singh Raj, the public voice of the Sikh separatist movement in Canada, said that after the ISYF has been branded as a 'terrorist' group, its image stood tarnished and made its functioning impossible. In July 2007, the former Sikh leader was in Surrey Provincial Court to be sentenced for robbing a bank last fall, desperate for cash to feed a crack habit that sent his life spiraling downward. As a baptized Sikh, Rai says, he never touched booze or drugs for 21 years... but all that changed in 2003, when some members of his former group began to call him a traitor, resulting in a deep depression that started his cocaine use. He lost his family, his job and his house, ending up on the streets of Vancouver's Downtown Eastside doing whatever it took to pay for more crack. He thinks his community is in denial over a drug problem that has ravaged many families and led to drug gangs and murders - and hopes to work to combat the problem if-and-when he gets out of jail.

Rai was drawn into the campaign for a separate Sikh nation called Khalistan after the Indian Army raided the Golden Temple in June 1984. Devastated at the destruction of Sikhism's holiest shrine, Rai heard a powerful speech at a Calgary Sikh temple by Babbar Khalsa leader Talwinder Singh Parmar, who would become the suspected mastermind of the June 1985 Air India bombing. Rai was so moved that he joined the Babbar Khalsa, committing himself to travel to India to fight for Khalistan; but within a few weeks, he met General Jaswant Bhullar, the leader of the World Sikh Organization, and joined that group; he ended up joining the ISYF because he believed the group would get Khalistan faster. ISYF leaders in B.C. arranged a clandestine training camp in New Westminster that began in the spring of 1985, Rai said. He traveled from Calgary with his high school buddy, Balbir Singh Khaira, who had also joined the group. For months, they did conditioning and paramilitary training that they planned to use in India - jumping out of vehicles going 40 kilometers an hour and even undergoing torture.

While others in the group, including Khaira, went on to India, Rai was sent back to Calgary - and to his family. He became disillusioned with the armed struggle and tried to change the ISYF into a strictly "democratic" human rights group - which led to him being labeled a traitor.

Conversely, Amrit Singh, youngest daughter of Prime Minister Manmohan Singh, a senior legal officer for National Security and Counterterrorism at the New York-based Open Society Justice Initiative, declared the ISYF disbanded and no longer existent in Canada. Singh's report Globalizing Torture: CIA Secret Torture and Extraordinary Rendition, published by the Open Society Justice Initiative, received widespread attention in the international media for its close look at the global torture network. The report says 54 countries including Pakistan, assisted the U.S. in its war against al-Qaeda by hosting CIA prisons on their territories and detaining, interrogating and "torturing" terror suspects. The report details the involvement of the nations in the American campaign against al-Qaeda and identifies 136 people who had been held or transferred by the CIA, describing when and where they were held.

Amrit Singh was the lawyer of Saudi national terrorist Abd al-Rahim Nashiri, who faced terror charges in the U.S. for allegedly orchestrating the al-Qaeda attack on the USS Cole in 2000, a bombing in the Yemeni port of Aden that killed 17 sailors and wounded 37. He was a high value detainees held under ultra-secure conditions in a secret section of Guantánamo known as Camp 7.

The Khalistan Movement was a political Sikh nationalist movement that wanted to create an independent state for Sikh people, inside the current North-Western Republic of India - and they didn't care how many Hindoos they had to kill to do it. The Khalistan Movement originally started in the early 1940's and 50's, but the movement was most popular in the 1970s and 1980s. Jarnail Singh Bhinderanwale, who was the leader of the Damdami Taksal, was another important factor which led towards Operation Blue Star. Bhinderanwale had a heavy influence on the Sikh youth in Punjab during this time as the leader of the Taksal, propagating original values of Sikhism and persuading people, both young and old to follow the rules and tenets of the religion. The main motive of Operation Blue Star was to eliminate Bhinderanwale, along with other Sikh militants and regain control over the Golden Temple.

During the Operation Blue Star, the media in Punjab faced a blackout. Journalists were reportedly were put in a military bus and abandoned at border of Haryana. In that period, Punjab faced a curfew and there was no transportation across the state. Journalists who tried to enter Punjab were denied entry. Indian nationals, who were working for foreign media were also denied entry into Punjab. All these incidents led to heavy criticism towards the government.

Several people were killed in retaliation to Operation Blue Star: Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was shot dead with 33 bullets by her two Sikh bodyguards, Satwant Singh and Beant Singh. General A.S. Vaidya, the 13th Army chief, who supervised the operation, was shot dead in Pune after his retirement. AI Flight 182 - supra - from Montreal to Delhi was bombed, killing all 329 on board.

The assassination of Indira Gandhi led to the Anti-Sikh Riots across India: Mobs made use of iron rods, knives, and combustible material such as kerosene and petrol - and attacked Sikh neighbourhoods, brutally killing any Sikh men or women they could find; their shops and houses were destroyed and burned; in other incidents, armed mobs also stopped buses and trains, in and around Delhi, and pulled out Sikh passengers, who were doused with kerosene and burnt alive; others were dragged out from their homes and attacked with bladed weapons. Congress leaders met the local supporters to distribute money and weapons: 100 rupee notes and bottles of liquor were handed out to the mob... it is also said that Delhi police kept its 'eyes closed' during the riot as it was pre-planned. Congress party officials provided the mob with voter lists and ration lists which were used to find the location of Sikh homes and business - and without the lists, it would have been an impossible task to locate the Sikhs.

Air India Flight 182 operating on the Montreal, Canada-London, U.K.-Delhi, India route. On 23 June 1985, the Boeing 747-237B was destroyed by a bomb at an altitude of 31,000 feet (9400 m). It crashed into the Atlantic Ocean while in Irish airspace. It was the first bombing of a 747 jumbo jet. A total of 329 people were killed, including 268 Canadian citizens, 27 Britons, and 24 Indians: The majority of the victims were Canadian citizens of Indian ancestry. The incident was the largest mass murder in Canadian history. It was the deadliest terrorist attack involving an airplane until the 11 September 2001, attacks. The bombing of Air India 182 occurred at the same time as the Narita Airport bombing. Investigators believe that the two plots were linked, and that those responsible were aiming for a double bombing - however, the bomb at Narita exploded before it could be loaded onto the plane.

Canadian law enforcement determined that the main suspects in the bombing were members of the Sikh militant group Babbar Khalsa International (BKI), a Khalistani terrorist organization based in India: Babbar Khalsa International has been declared to be a terrorist organization in many countries, including Canada, Germany, India, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

The attack is thought to have been a retaliation against India for Operation Blue Star, ordered by the Indian government, headed by PM Indira Gandhi, and carried out by the Indian Army to flush out several hundred Sikh militants who were amassing weapons in the Harmandir Sahib Complex (Golden Temple) in Amritsar and the surrounding structures. Though a handful of members were arrested and tried, Inderjit Singh Reyat, a Canadian national, remains the only person convicted of involvement in the bombing. Singh pleaded guilty in 2003 to manslaughter - and was sentenced to 15 years in prison for building the bombs that exploded aboard Flight 182 and at Narita.

Malaysian Airlines MH-370

With the disappearance of those on Malaysian Airlines MH-370, billionaire ☆ Jacob Rothschild, who owns the company Blackstone, which in turn owns the company Freescale Semiconductors, became the sole owner of an important semiconductor patent. Illuminati member, Rothschild, is believed to have exploited the airliner to gain full Patent Rights of an incredible KL-03 micro-chip: These are the same people that sunk the Titanic (Olympic) for insurance money. The U.S. technological company, Freescale Semiconductor, who shared its rights with Rothschild, had twenty senior members on board who had just launched a new electronic warfare gadget for military radar system's the day before the plane went missing. The Semiconductor company develops microprocessors, sensors, and other technology including stand-alone semiconductors that perform dedicated computing functions. The patent was all about military cloaking capabilities... you know the ones that can hide flying airplanes that later on detonate over unexpecting cities. This subterfuge was meant to prepare the public for their version of the future New World Order dictatorship, and this brazen attack on our freedom was just another preview of the psychology and mentality surrounding this Satanic New World Order agenda: First the Illuminati create Chaos - as in the 9-11 incident, then they offer the solution, i.e. the War on Terror.

The Freescale's shareholders include the Carlyle Group who's past advisors have included ex-U.S. president George Bush Sr. and former British Prime Minister John Major. Some of the companies previous clients include the construction firm owned by the family of Osama Bin Laden, the Saudi Binladin Group. Four days after the flight MH-370 disappear, semiconductor patent was approved by the U.S. patent office patent is divided in parts of 20% between five starters. One of the owners is the company itself, Freescale Semiconductor [of Austin, Texas (USA)] and four Chinese employees of the company: Peidong Wang, Zhijun

Chen, Cheng and Li Ying Zhijong, all the Suzhou City: These were people with a lot of experience and technical background and they were very important people. Patent holders can alter the proceeds legally by passing wealth to their heirs: "However, they cannot do so until the Patent is approved... so when the plane went missing, the patent had not been approved."

Although a Freescale patent exists under number US8650327, none of the names listed actually appear on the passenger manifest released by the Malaysian authorities. Rothschild is hiding evidence to gain the rights to this semiconductor. He wants power and he wants money! It may have taken 239 deaths to do it, but to him, that's just part of population control. In the end, he gets him money, his fame, and his power - all while the world remains silent.

The German philosopher, Adam Weishaupt, educated by the Jesuits, founded the Satanic Order of the Illuminati or the Bavarian Illuminati Brotherhood in order to achieve the New World Order (NWO), on 1 May 1776.

<sup>3</sup> Al-Zawahiri is a physician and the founder of the Egyptian Islamic Jihad (EIJ): This organization opposes the secular Egyptian Government and seeks its overthrow through violent means. In approximately 1998, the EIJ led by al-Zawahiri merged with al-Qaeda. The CIA has called him a senior al-Qaeda leader and the mastermind of the 9/11 attacks: The details of al-Zawahiri's brutal interrogation at secret CIA installations in Afghanistan and Poland, described in the report issued earlier this month by the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, make for grim, even sickening reading: slamming him against a wall (a practice known as "walling"), depriving him of sleep (at one point for more than a week), forcing him to stand or crouch in painful positions, stripping him during questioning, and engaging in a bizarre practice called "rectal rehydration." (According to a CIA document, it was supposed to help "clear a person's head.") In Poland, the interrogators subjected Mohammed to waterboarding, a form of torture making a person believe he is drowning, at least 183 times - basically doing a series of near drowning exercises: The purpose of the waterboarding is to bring the victim as close as possible to death without actually killing him. During one waterboarding session, so much water was forced into Mohammed that his "abdomen was somewhat distended and he expressed water when the abdomen was pressed." The CIA subjected Mohammed to waterboarding and other "enhanced methods" for about four weeks.

Mohammed did reveal some fascinating information after the torture ended. For instance, more than a week after the waterboarding was over, Mohammed told his interrogators that he had been with Ayman al-Zawahiri, the current leader of Al Qaeda, the day before his capture. Mohammed also claimed that much of the information he had given under torture was false, and in at least several instances that turned out to be correct.

<sup>4</sup> SS-Brigadeführer Emil Otto Rasch (7 December 1891 - 1 November 1948) was a high-ranking Nazi official in the occupied Eastern territories, commanding Einsatzgruppe C (northern and central Ukraine) until October 1941. After World War II, Rasch was indicted for war crimes, but the case was discontinued for medical reasons in 1948. He died in 1948 while in custody. Rasch, along with General Kurt Eberhard and Paul Blobel, organized the Babi Yar Massacre, which saw the murder of over 33,000 Jews.

<sup>5</sup> Kiev was captured by the 29th Corps and the 6th German Army on 19 September 1941. Of its Jewish population of 160,000, some 100,000 had managed to flee before the Germans took the city. Shortly after the German takeover, from September 24th to 28th, a considerable number of buildings the city center, which were being used by German military administration and the army, were blown up; many Germans (as well as local inhabitants) were killed in the explosions. After the war, it was learned that the sabotage operation had been the work of Jewish NKVD (Soviet security police) detachment that had been left behind in the city for that purpose.

On September 26th, the Germans held a meeting at which it was decided that in retaliation for the attacks on the German-held installations, the Jews of Kiev would all be put to death. Participating in the meeting were the military governor, Maj. Gen. Friedrich Georg Eberhardt; the Higher SS and Police Leader at Rear Headquarters Army Group South, SS Obergruppenführer Friedrich Jeckeln (known to be ruthless, brutal, self-indulgent and hard - he relentlessly pursued political opponents until their death especially members of the KPD, SPD and the unions) - infer; the officer commanding Einsatzgruppe C, SS-Brigadeführer Dr. Otto Rasch; and the officer commanding Sonderkommando 4a, SS-Standartenführer Paul Blobel. [See Endnote 2.]

The implementation of the decision to kill all the Jews of Kiev was entrusted to Sonderkommando 4a, responsible for liquidating political and racial undesirables. This unit consisted of SD (Sicherheitsdienst; Security Service) and Sicherheitspolizei (Security Police; Sipo) men; the third company of the Special Duties Waffen-SS battalion; and a platoon of the No. 9 police battalion. The unit was reinforced by police battalions Nos. 45 and 305 and by units of the Ukrainian auxiliary police.

On September 28th, notices were posted in the city ordering the Jews to assemble the following morning, September 29th, at 8:00 a.m., for resettlement in new locations. The text had been prepared by Propaganda Company No. 637 and the notices had been printed by the 6th Army printing press. The area had been cordoned off by a barbed-wire fence and guarded by Sonderkommando police and Waffen-SS men, as well as by Ukrainian policemen.

Holodomor and other War Crimes of the 20th Century

The Jews were forced to hand over all the valuables in their possession, to take off all their clothes, and to advance toward the ravine edge, in groups of ten. When they reached the edge, they were gunned down by automatic fire. The shooting was done by several squads of SD and Sipo personnel, police, and Waffen-SS men of the Sonderkommando unit, the squads relieving one another every few hours. When the day ended, the bodies were covered with a thin layer of soil. According to official reports of the Einsatzgruppe, in two days of shooting (September 29th and 30th), 33,771 Jews were murdered.

In the months that followed, many more thousands of Jews were seized, taken to Babi Yar, and shot. Among the general population there were some who helped Jews go into hiding, but there were also a significant number who informed on them to the Germans and gave them up. After the war, the officer in charge of the Sipo and SD bureau testified that his Kiev office received so many letters from the Ukrainian population informing on Jews - "by the bushel" - that the office could not deal with them all, for lack of manpower. Evidence of betrayal of Jews by the Kiev population was also given by Jewish survivors and by the Soviet writer Anatoly Kuznetsov. But it cannot be understated that the memory of the Ukrainian Holodomor of 1932-33 was fresh in their minds: The rural population of Ukraine had died off at a rate of 25,000 a day, half of them children, in their home land - known worldwide as the breadbasket of Europe - which was ravaged by a Jewish-made Shemitah famine of unprecedented scale, whilest the Soviet Jew ☆ Stalin hoarded grain and sold it internationally: Cf. Gen. 41:56, 57 - When the famine had spread over the whole country, Joseph opened all the storehouses and sold grain to the Egyptians, for the famine was severe throughout Egypt.

And all peoples came to Egypt to buy grain from Joseph, for the famine was grievous everywhere. [See Endnote 3.]

Babi Yar served as a slaughterhouse for non-Jews as well, such as Gypsies and Soviet prisoners of war. According to the estimate given by the Soviet research commission on Nazi crimes, 100,000 persons were murdered at Babi Yar: Cf. The Kaytn Forest Massacre - a mass execution of Polish citizens ordered by Soviet authorities in 1940. Estimates of the number of those executed ranges from 16,000 to 25,000...: Polish POWs and other prisoners were murdered in Kaytn Forest, Kalinin, Kharkiv prisons and elsewhere. Those who died at Kaytn included: an admiral, two generals, 24 colonels, 79 lieutenant colonels, 258 majors, 654 captains, 17 naval captains, 3420 NCOs, seven chaplains, three landowners, a prince, 43 officials, 85 privates, and 131 refugees. Also among the dead were 20 university professors, 300 physicians, several hundred lawyers, engineers, and teachers; and more than 100 writers and journalists as well as about 200 pilots. In all, the Jewish NKVD executed almost half the Polish officer corps. The killings were methodical: After the condemned's personal information was checked, he was handcuffed and led to a cell insulated with a felt-lined door. After being taken into the cell, the victim was immediately shot in the back of the head.

The Betrayal of the Cossacks

On 11 December 1941, four days after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbour, Hitler spoke to the Reichstag in Berlin and dealt at length with President Roosevelt's hostile policies towards Germany. He detailed the increasingly belligerent actions of Roosevelt's government, and dramatically announced Germany was now joining Japan in the war against the U.S.: Italy and Croatia would soon follow suit. The Independent State of Croatia (NDH) was created on 10 April 1941. Led by Ante Pavelić, several hundred Ustaše militia traveled from training camps in Croatia to Italy. They governed most of modern-day Croatia including Bosnia and Herzegovina, and sought to clear out ethnic Serbs, Jews and Romany gypsies: However, one-third of all ethnic Serbs were spared death or deportation by converting from Serbian Orthodox to Roman Catholic: This is not dissimilar to what English Protestants offered to the Catholics during the Middle Ages.

In Jerusalem, Hitler allied with the Grand Mufti Muhammad Haj Amin al-Husseini - supra - and together Croat and Muslims in Bosnia formed the 13th Waffen Mountain Division of the SS Handschar. The Arabs and Japanese were not the only non-Aryans to side with Hitler: Africans, Slavs, Asians, Hindus, Arabs and numerous other nationalities all fought shoulder-to-shoulder with the Germans. Hitler's Wehrmacht and Waffen SS were the most culturally, ethnically and religiously diverse military forces in Western History - with the exception, perhaps, of the French Foreign Legion.

With uncompromising hatred, fanatical nationalism and die-hard religious beliefs all in play, the horrors that occurred in the Balkans were unparalleled. The Kingdom of Yugoslavia became a war zone of competing political interests and disparate ideologies, including: Socialism, Fascism, Communism, Monarchism and Serbian and Croatian nationalism. It was a recipe for disaster, where lex talionis atrocities were carried out in the cycle of "an eye for an eye" - massacres were fueled by revenge and committed by all parties: Even the battle hardened Germans were taken aback by the horrors inflicted.

The fiercely nationalistic and fanatical Croatian Ustaše persecuted Jews, Communists and perceived enemies of the state, holding them in camps such as those at Jasenovac. The Croats had been victims themselves however, having suffered terribly at the hands of the Serbs and Bolshevik partisans. Indeed, the Ustaše elite unit - the Black Legion - was formed on 3 September 1941 by the Croat and Muslim survivors who had fled Sarajevo after seeing their families butchered by the Serbs and Chetniks. They eventually earned a reputation as the most brutal and ruthless of the Ustaše units with a motto of: "No quarter asked, none given." Their finest hour came in defense of the town of Kupres where, although heavily outnumbered, they and other Ustaše units successively defended the civilian population against four Communist partisan regiments, preventing their certain death. The battle raged for over a week, with the Ustaše killing over 1000 of the enemy. After the fall of the Third Reich, such was their loyalty to Adolf Hitler, Croatia refused to surrender - becoming the last of the Axis powers left fighting in Europe.

Lieutenant General of the Wehrmacht and Supreme Ataman of the XV Kosaken-Kavallerie-Korps, Helmuth von Pannwitz (1898-1947), the last knight of Europe, who distinguished himself as a German cavalry officer during the First and the Second World Wars... surrendered on 11 May 1945, to British forces near Völkmarkt in Carinthia (Austria), and made every effort to ensure that his men would remain in the custody of the Western powers. But by mid-May it was becoming obvious that the Cossacks would be handed over to their deadly enemies - an action often referred to as The Betrayal of Cossacks: After successfully escaping the Communists, hundreds of thousands of Croat soldiers threw down their weapons and surrendered to the Western Allies at the Austrian border town of Bleiburg. However, the British Army deceived the POWs and their families, loading them on to trains supposedly headed West. The trains instead transported them East... over the border into Yugoslavia and towards certain death at the hands of the vicious partisans led by Marshal Josip Tito. On arrival, they were dragged from the boxcars and the men were summarily shot - the women and children were forced on "death marches" into prison camps where, along the way, many were raped, beaten and murdered - the Bleiburg Massacre is considered by many to be the worst massacre of the 20th century. Official British 8th Army documents reported that there were 200,000 Croat soldiers and 500,000 civilians including women and children. The same fate overtook the members of the Kazachi Stan at Lienz, another 30,000 old folk, women, and children, were all executed, sent to gulag prison camps, or committed suicide to avoid being repatriated.

Pannwitz was executed in Moscow for war crimes in 1947... of which he has been rehabilitated by the military prosecutor in Moscow in April 1996, almost fifty years after his violent death. The revocation of the Red kangaroo court's conviction of Pannwitz was itself overturned in June 2001.

Allied War Crimes

Calculations of the death-toll from the Anglo-American bombing of Dresden in February 1945 - a magnificent city of three quarters of a million people, its population further swollen by hordes of anonymous refugees from the Eastern Front, was destroyed in a firestorm of saturation bombing with explosives and incendiary bombs being delivered in wave-after-wave of precise precision, vaporizing and liquefying the innocent citizens hiding in bomb shelters, turning people into spontaneous torches or sucking them into buildings consumed in a holocaust of flames, or scalding them with the melted copper from ancient roofs, or swallowing them alive in the boiling asphalt of paved streets: Figures suggest a range from 35,000 through 100,000, and even up to half a million at the wilder fringes of speculation were killed by the kaffir-hating war criminal Winston Churchill - who participated in the internment of Boer women and children in British concentration camps in South Africa (1899-1902), of whom 22,074 were children under 16... and 14,154 black Africans also died of starvation, disease and exposure concentrated into these camps - and when the Kurds rebelled against British rule in Iraq in the 1920s, under the leadership of Sheikh Mahmud Barzanji, he was quoted as saying: "I am strongly in favour of using poisoned gas against the uncivilized tribes... it would spread a lively terror" - it is an unfortunate and evil coincidence that, decades later, Saddam Hussein did in Iraq what the former British statesman had advocated - in 1988, using chemical gas in Halabja against so-called "uncivilized tribes," as he chose to call them. [See Endnote 4.]

A modern-horror surpassing even the unnecessary atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945, wherein 135,000 and 64,000 civilians were either killed or wounded or poisoned by the radiation, respectively - amidst extensive destruction of civil installations (hospitals, fire and police department, and government agencies) a state of utter confusion immediately followed the historic explosions which stand as the greatest achievement of the blood-thirsty war criminal Franklin Delano Roosevelt (FDR), who had foreknowledge of Pearl Harbour, twice rejected Japanese surrender - even the total death toll of the Nanking Massacre - infer - a rare example of simultaneous gendericides against women and men in which an estimated 60,000 to 70,000 people were massacred by the invading Japanese Imperial Army in Nanking (the capital city of the Nationalist government of China) and 300,000 in total between Nanking and Shanghai: In a 1942 speech Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Republic of China between 1928 and 1975, raised the figure of victims in Nanking to "over 200,000 civilians." [See Endnote 5.]

In July 1943, by which time the Red Army was on the advance, Paul Blobel came back to Kiev. He was now on a new assignment, in coordination with SS-Gruppenführer Dr. Max Thomas, the officer commanding the SD and Sipo in the Ukraine: that of erasing all evidence of the mass carnage that the Nazis had perpetrated. For this purpose, Blobel formed two special groups, identified by the code number 1005. Unit 1005-A was made up of eight-to-ten SD men and thirty German policemen, and was under the command of an SS-Obersturmbannführer named Baumann. In mid-August the unit embarked on its task of exhuming the corpses in Babi Yar and cremating them. The ghastly job itself was carried out by inmates of a nearby concentration camp (Syretsk), from which the Germans brought in 327 men, of whom 100 were Jews. The prisoners were housed in a bunker carved out from the ravine wall; it had an iron gate that was locked during the night and was watched by a guard with a machine gun. They had chains bolted to their legs, and those who fell ill or lagged behind were shot on the spot. The mass graves were opened up by bulldozers, and it was the prisoners' job to drag the corpses to cremation pyres, which consisted of wooden logs doused in gasoline on a base of railroad ties. The bones that did not respond to incineration were crushed, for which purpose the Nazis brought in tombstones from the Jewish cemetery. The ashes were sifted to retrieve any gold or silver they might have contained. Cremation of the corpses began on August 18th and went on for six weeks, ending on 19 September 1943. The Nazis did their job thoroughly, and when they were through no trace was left of the mass graves.

On the morning of September 29th, the prisoners learned that they were about to be put to death. They already had a plan for escape, and resolved to put it into effect the same night: Shortly after midnight, under cover of darkness and the fog that enveloped the ravine, twenty-five prisoners broke out - fifteen succeeded in making their escape... the others were shot during the attempt or on the following morning.

SS- Standartenführer Paul Blobel was condemned to death at Nuremberg in 1948, he was executed at Landsberg on 8 June 1951.

Sonderkommandos & Holocaust Denial

The term Sonderkommando itself in German means "special unit" and applies to a volunteer force of Jewish male prisoners picked for their youth and relative good health which policed the inmates of Jewish ghettos and concentrations camps, as well as fulfilling the duties for which they were best suited - as has been proven by the Bolshevik NKVD - for which they acted out of mere greed for extra food and money. Sonderkommandos were divided into several groups, each with a specialized function. Some greeted the new arrivals and assisted in the delousing process or assigned inmates to labor teams.

The Sonderkommandos tend to be regarded very negatively by most survivors, and to a certain extent the Jewish establishment in general. In the camps, the Sonderkommandos were seen as unclean, and the writer Primo Levi described them as being "akin to collaborators." He said that their testimonies should not be given much credence, "since they had much to atone for and would naturally attempt to rehabilitate themselves at the expense of the truth."

The pioneering Holocaust denial report of Fred Leuchter, the American gas chamber expert who carried out the first ever forensic study of the alleged Auschwitz gas chambers, were corroborated by the more thorough and exacting scientific study of the former Max Planck Institute chemistry doctoral candidate, Gerhard Rudolf. Both reports found only minuscule traces of hydrogen cyanide gas (HCN) residue in samples taken from the walls and floors of the alleged homicidal Auschwitz gas chambers. Yet, very large amounts of HCN residue were found in samples taken from the non-homicidal disinfestation chambers, where HCN was used only to delouse mattresses, clothing and other belongings. If the structures in question were actually used as homicidal gas chambers, one would expect to find a considerable HCN residue buildup, somewhat comparable to that found in the non-homicidal disinfestation chambers. In both reports the conclusions are the same: The alleged homicidal gas chambers never existed... Zyklon-B was in use at Auschwitz as a delousing agent, and was thus readily available as a scapegoat for the Holocaust lie of six million Jews gassed. (Furthermore, Zyklon B could not have been used for killing in the gas chambers, because it is explosive, and the crematorium furnaces were nearby.)

Leuchter contended that the residue from such a large amount of gas [would have necessitated that] the Sonderkommando inmates who supposed collected the hair and removed gold teeth from the HCN-contaminated bodies would have had to wait at least 24 hours before entering the chambers because it took at least 20 hours to air a room which was disinfected with Zyklon-B... therefore the eyewitness accounts giving a time of 20-30 minutes from when the gassing started to when the bodies were carried out is impossible, because the Sonderkommandos carrying out the bodies would have perspired because of the hard labor... making them prone to absorb the deadly HCN gas that exudes from the mass of dead bodies in the gas chamber and so perished as they handled the removal of those bodies.

It is to be believed that one thousand to two thousand victims were herded into the small gas chamber, which had only the one wooden door on hinges - why couldn't such a great mass of surging people trying to escape the gas have broken the door off of its weak hinges? it is said that after the door was closed the deadly HCN was circulated throughout the homicidal chamber from a tiny vent in the ceiling and the bodies were piled in a hard-to-untangle-mass of twisted and intertwined limbs. As Dr. Robert Jan van Pelt, a professor of architecture at the University of Waterloo (Canada) wouldst have us believe, the victim's bodies absorbed most of the gas... and the residual, remaining amount was extracted from the chamber by the ventilation systems. The amount of HCN exuding from each of the over one thousand bodies would have, in the end, accumulated to an ocean of gas to poison both the Sonderkommandos and the Nazi guards by skin absorption or inhalation.

Nonetheless, David Olere, a French-Jewish deportee to Auschwitz in 1943, is one of the most important eyewitnesses to the operation of the alleged mass gassings - his "symbolic" sketches, paintings and drawings are said to provide the world with an accurate description of the technique and operation of the Auschwitz gas chambers - if he is to be believed - but much "artistic license" was taken by Olere. In one of his most important drawings, shirtless Sonderkommandos are shown opening the gas chamber door and pulling the bodies out after a mass gassing - they aren't wearing gas masks, rubber gloves or protective clothing and would have been poisoned by way of inhalation or skin absorption.

Leuchter spoke of the dangers surrounding the handling of just one (!) victim that was poisoned by HCN in a gas chamber: "The inmate has to be completely washed down with chlorine bleach or with ammonia [as] the poison exudes right out through his skin." Bill Armontrout, expert witness at the second Ernst Zündel trial in Toronto and warden of the Missouri State Penitentiary, which includes an execution gas chamber, confirmed the danger of handling contaminated bodies. Real life tragic incidents corroborate Leuchter's and Armontrout's claims.

As far back as the 1970s, Europe's foremost Holocaust revisionist scholar, Robert Faurisson, revealed to the world the chemical and toxicological impossibility of this Auschwitz gas chamber legend. Judging by the amount and area of the supposed gas chambers, and the number of the "Kremas," it was impossible to kill 6 million people in the time interval in which the concentration camps existed - in truth, the "alleged" extermination chambers were actually morgues, and that Zyklon-B was used in them as a disinfectant. In short, there are no documents about gas chambers or mass murder of Jews and others, and no evidence there was a plan to carry out mass extermination. [For his views Faurisson has been persecuted by the courts and repeatedly been a victim of physical assault: Between November 1978 and May 1993 he was a victim of ten attacks, at least nine of them carried out by Jewish thugs. None of the criminal assailants in any of these assaults has ever been brought to justice. The most savage was a nearly fatal attack on 16 September 1989, for which a group calling itself "The Sons of the Memory of the Jews" claimed responsibility.]

Contrary to popular myth, the Jews remained "free" inside Germany - albeit subject to laws which did restrict certain of their privileges - prior to the outbreak of World War II. Yet, the other little-known fact is that just before the war began, the leadership of the world Jewish community formally declared war on Germany - above and beyond the ongoing six-year-long economic boycott launched by the worldwide Jewish community when the Nazi Party came to power in 1933. As a consequence of the formal declaration of war, the German authorities thus deemed Jews to be potential enemy agents.

Hitler had 'good reason' to be convinced that his enemies wanted to annihilate him - at the outbreak of war in 1939, ☆ Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of both the international Jewish Agency for Palestine and of the World Zionist Organization (and later Israel's first president) - one of the most evil, subversive and destructive Jews of the 20th century - told British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that the Jews would fight on the side of the democracies utilizing Jewish man-power, technical ability, resources etc.: A more accurate statement would be that the "democracies" were on the side of the Jews in the Jewish-led war against Hitler and his forces.

In this Second World War as a struggle for life and death it must never be forgotten that following the declaration of war of the World Zionist Congress and its leader Chaim Weizmann (in his message to England's Prime Minister Chamberlain), World Jewry is the unrelenting opponent of National Socialism, the enemy Number 1.

Adolf Hitler, 24 July 1942

It was on 2 November 1917 that British Foreign Secretary Arthur Balfour sent Lord Rothschild, titular head of the British Jewish community, a letter - the Balfour Declaration - expressing the backing of the British government for "the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people." British policy on the "national home for the Jewish people" evolved between the Balfour Declaration and the creation of the British Mandate in 1922. Hence, in a letter to the genocidal maniac Winston Churchill (dated 10 September 1941), Weizmann gloated about how International Jewry brought America into WWI and was willing to do it again, provided that Britain towed the line on making Palestine a safe haven for the international guild of criminals known as Jewry: Ninety-four years after Balfour's declaration, surrendering possession of a land they had no authority to, the right of the Jewish people to re-establish their national homeland is still rejected even by Palestinian Arab "moderates." The unrelenting threat of renewed violence remains the Arabs' default position... but, hardline Jews argue that the land does not belong to them, claiming that there is "no such thing as a Palestinian" - stating that there are Arabs living in Palestine and that the land has been traditionally shared for thousands of years between Hebrews and Arabs since the time of Abram (Abraham) - who share the same lineage. The land has changed hands countless times: It was originally in the possession of Melchi Zadok of the Salem Cult, who initiated Abram in the art of usury; later the Phoenicians laid claim to the Levant, but after 40 years of wandering in the wilderness, the mixed multitude was led by Joshua ben Nun - after the murder of Moses the "Dead Prince" by the Hebrews - into the Land Between of Promise... and, with the assistance of Rahab the Harlot, laid siege to Jericho, Ai and Gabaon (Gibeon).

"So the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and did not hasten to go down for about a whole day. And there has been no day like that, before it or after it, that the Lord heeded the voice of man, for the Lord fought for Israel."

Joshua 10:13-14

Sun and moon stood still in the heavens at the glint of your flying arrows, at the lightning of your flashing spear.

Habakkuk 3:11

The Greeks, the Romans, the Persians, the Jewish Sanhedrin and Pharisees, Islam - the Ottoman Turks, the Mongols, the Germans and the British, Zion, have all laid claim to the Levant at times. Yet... it was never their land! At the beginning of the 1900s, Palestine was under Turkish rule, and negotiations between the Turks and the Zionists concerning the creation of a Jewish state in Palestine failed to progress. The Jews descry, "Palestine is not a country. If you want to blame someone for Palestinian suffering, blame Hamas - they started firing rockets and anti-tank missiles at Israeli soldiers. Hamas puts every base, every rocket launching site in densely packed neighborhoods. They hide behind women's skirts and use human shields. They know that the Israeli response will inevitably kill civilians. No country is going to sit there and have hundreds of rockets fired at it and sit back and not respond. If Hamas crawled out of their rat holes and met the Israel Defense Force (IDF) on the Battlefield - there would be no Hamas left."

Many Palestinians, though, actually have deeds to their land but are evicted nonetheless under flimsy pretense only to see later settlements being constructed where they once lived and farmed. Even when Palestinians are able to win their cases in Israeli courts (a Kafkaesque situation) the rulings are not enforced and the settlement building continues. Zionist Leader ☆ Theodor (Benjamin Ze'ev) Herzl was offered Madagascar and nearly accepted Uganda as the Jewish homeland - this demonstrates that supporters were indifferent to the historic Jewish homeland and did not appreciate the unique relationship between the Jews and the Land of Israel. But none of the land offered by the British is in present-day Uganda - it was all in British East Africa Protectorate (called Kenya since the 1920s). [see Endnote 6.]

Endnotes

1. Four figures affected Sadat's early life. The first, a man named Zahran, came from a small village like Sadat's. In a famous incident of colonial rule, the British hanged Zahran for participating in a riot which had resulted in the death of a British officer. Sadat admired the courage Zahran exhibit on the way to the gallows. The second, Kemal Atatürk, created the modern state of Turkey by forcing the downfall of the Ottoman Empire. Not only had Atatürk thrown off the shackles of colonialism, but he established a number of civil service reforms, which Sadat admired. The third man was Mohandas Gandhi. Touring Egypt in 1932, Gandhi had preached the power of nonviolence in combating injustice. And finally, the young Sadat admired Adolf Hitler whom the anti-colonialist Sadat viewed as a potential rival to British control.
2. SS Obergruppenführer Friedrich Jeckeln was captured by Soviet troops near Halbe, in the vicinity of Forsthaus Hammer, on 28 April 1945. Along with other Nazis who served in the Riga military district, he was tried before a Soviet military court in Riga, Latvia from 26 January 1946, to 3 February 1946. During the investigation, he was calm, answering questions from investigators in essence, on the dock looked dull and impartial. Jeckeln in his last word was restrained, he fully admitted his guilt and agreed to bear full responsibility for the activities of subordinate Police, SS and SD in Ostland. Concluding his speech, he said: "I have to take full responsibility for what happened in the borders of Ostland, within SS, SD and the Gestapo. Thereby increases much my fault. My fate is in the hands of the High Court, and so I ask only to pay attention to mitigating circumstances. I will accept a sentence in full repentance and I will consider as worthy punishment." Jeckeln and the other defendants were found guilty, sentenced to death and hanged at Riga on 3 February 1946 in front of some 4000 spectators. Against popular misconception, the execution did not happen in the territory of the former Riga ghetto, but in Victory Square (Uzvaras laukums).
3. After the death of □ Lenin, on 21 January 1924, the Soviet Union adopted a constitution based on the dictatorship of the proletariat. Bolshevik revolutionary and Marxist theorist □ Lev Davidovich Bronstein aka Leon Trotsky (1879-1940) remained the most prominent and popular Bolshevik leader - following a power struggle with Stalin, the Communist Party denounced Trotsky and his Russified ideology - and exiled him in 1929. Trotsky had served as the People's Commissar for Foreign Affairs and the People's Commissar of War and was the founder and commander of - the Red Army. He was also a founding member of the Politburo, the central policymaking and governing body of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. Ramon Mercader, a Spanish communist and Soviet agent, assassinated Trotsky in Mexico in 1940; he served 20 years in Mexican prison for the murder; Joseph Stalin presented him with an Order of Lenin in absentia...: Mercader was awarded the title of Hero of the Soviet Union after his release in 1961.
4. Former US president George W. Bush, who led the 2003 Iraq invasion, used to keep a bust of Winston Churchill in the Oval Office as a way of placing himself among the great historical leaders who fought against fascism and evil in the world. When President Barack Obama won the elections and began moving into the White House in 2010, among the changes he made to the furnishings was to remove that bust to the United Kingdom. Returning the sculpture caused uproar in the conservative camps and among conspiracy theorists, who interpreted Obama's act as personal hatred of the British statesman: it was under Churchill's watch that Obama's Kenyan grandfather, Hussein Onyango Obama, was brutally tortured in Kenya and imprisoned by the British colonial forces for two years without trial. The Republican presidential candidate, Mitt Romney, even used that sculpture issue in his fundraising campaigns against Obama in 2012 and claimed he would return the Churchill bust to the Oval office if he became president. However, in 2010 the White House curator, William Allman, informed the media that the bust had been loaned to Bush by former British prime minister Tony Blair and was scheduled to be returned to Britain before Obama's arrival in the White House.
5. Chiang's predecessor, Sun Yat-sen, was well-liked and respected by the Communists, but after Sun's death Chiang, an influential member of the Kuomintang (KMT), was not able to maintain good relations with the Chinese Communist Party (CCP). A major split between the Nationalists and Communists occurred in 1927; and, under Chiang's leadership, the Nationalists fought a nationwide civil war against the Communists. After Japan invaded China in 1937, Chiang agreed to a temporary truce with the CCP. Despite some early cooperative military successes against Japan, by the time that the Japanese surrendered in 1945 neither the CCP nor the KMT trusted or was actively cooperating with the other.
The Communist International, abbreviated as Comintern and also known as the Third International (1919-1943), was an international communist organization that advocated world communism. In 1923, the KMT and its government accepted aid from the Soviet Union after being denied recognition by the western powers. Soviet advisers - the most prominent of whom was a Jewish agent of the Comintern □ Mikhail Borodin (1884-1951) - arrived in China in 1923 to aid in the reorganization and consolidation of the KMT along the lines of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, establishing a Leninist party structure that lasted into the 1990s.

Stalin, under criticism from Trotsky for compromising with the Chinese bourgeoisie, instructed Borodin to enforce leftist land revolution policies on the Nationalists and to mobilize an army of peasants and workers in order to seize control of the party. Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the right wing of the party, purged communists in the bloody Shanghai Massacre of 1927 but allowed Borodin to "escape" by car to the Soviet Union along with Sun Yat-sen's wife and Eugene Chen's sons.

The Shanghai Massacre (四一二清黨) was an anti-Chinese Communist Party purge in Shanghai led by the Guomindang (国民党), also referred to in English as the Nationalist Party, was a major political party of revolutionary China: 5000-6000 people were killed, arrested, or went missing. The Guomindang was formally established in 1912, with Sun Yat-sen elected as the party chairman. The Guomindang and the Chinese Communist Party maintained an uneasy peace during the period when Sun Yat-sen was the leader. This quickly deteriorated after Yat-sen's death, when the party leadership was transferred to Chiang Kai-shek. These tensions resulted in the Chinese Civil War, and the eventual flight of the Guomindang to Taiwan, where they are still a major political party.

The First United Front (1922-27) was an alliance established between the Guomindang and the Chinese Communist Party. The aim of the front was to defeat the warlords and reunite China through the joint National Revolutionary Army. In spring 1927, Chiang Kai-shek ordered a purge of all communists and left-wing government officials - this marked the end of the United Front and the beginning of Chiang's military-style dictatorship. The National Revolutionary Army marched across the Yellow River before turning to Manchuria and Beijing. Zhang Xueliang (1901-2001), the powerful warlord of Manchuria, quickly declared his loyalty to Chiang in order to avoid conflict. Chiang had defeated the majority of the warlords and, for the first time in twenty years, reunified China.

6. Idi Amin Dada, who became known as the 'Butcher of Uganda' for his brutal, despotic rule whilst president of Uganda in the 1970s, is possibly the most notorious of all Africa's post-independence dictators. Amin seized power in a military coup in 1971 and ruled over Uganda for 8 years. Estimates for the number of his opponents who were either killed, tortured, or imprisoned vary from 100,000 to half a million. The Uganda-Tanzania War (usually referred to in Uganda as the Liberation War) was fought between Uganda and Tanzania in 1978-1979, and led to the overthrow of Idi Amin's regime. Idi Amin's forces included thousands of troops sent by Libya, and some Palestinian support: The Libyan troops were a mix of regular Libyan Army units, People's Militia, and sub-Saharan Africans of the Islamic Legion, a further force created by Libya for this type of expeditionary mission.

Muammar Gaddafi had turned Libya into a haven for anti-Western radicals - any group, no matter how bloodstained or discredited, could receive his guns and cash, provided it claimed to be fighting "imperialism." Thus Idi Amin, the Ugandan despot who believed in nothing save self-enrichment and murder, was a particular favourite. Gaddafi's imperial delusions bordered on megalomania: He considered himself to be the king of the whole of Africa and the ultimate Arab emperor. The rest of Africa and the Arab world unkindly brushed off his imperial obsessions for the most part. Yet, he incessantly preached about a unified Africa and a Pan-African Islamic empire. He also created what was called the Legion of Islam.

Gaddafi's only daughter Aisha al-Gaddafi married the deposed Ugandan dictator Idi Amin.

Another of Gaddafi's friends with dubious distinctions was ethnic cleanser Slobodan Milošević the "Butcher of the Balkans." Gaddafi aligned himself with the Orthodox Serbs against Bosnia's Muslims and Kosovo's Albanians: During the Kosovo war, Milošević was indicted for war crimes - and, when the original charges of war crimes in Kosovo were upgraded by adding charges of genocide in Bosnia and war crimes in Croatia, Milošević accused the war crimes tribunal of an "evil and hostile attack" against him. The charges on which Milošević was indicted were: genocide; complicity in genocide; deportation; murder; persecutions on political, racial or religious grounds; inhumane acts/forcible transfer; extermination; imprisonment; torture; willful killing; unlawful confinement; willfully causing great suffering; unlawful deportation or transfer; extensive destruction and appropriation of property, not justified by military necessity and carried out unlawfully and wantonly; cruel treatment; plunder of public or private property; attacks on civilians; destruction or willful damage done to historic monuments and institutions dedicated to education or religion; unlawful attacks on civilian objects.

Another of Gaddafi's friends in the struggle against imperialism and American hegemony was Venezuelan president Hugo Chavez.

"What Simón Bolívar is to the Venezuelan people, Gaddafi is to the Libyan people."

Hugo Chavez, 40th anniversary celebrations of the Great al-Fateh Revolution in 2009

The Great al-Fateh Revolution, which folded eras of oppression and injustice, ended forever the rule of a puppet family established by the colonizer, purified the homeland from foreign invaders through the evacuation of American and British bases and expelled the Italian fascists settlers. Moreover, the revolution nationalized the banks and the sector of oil, returned the Libyan airspace to national sovereignty, launched development projects to do forever with the page of poverty and underdevelopment.

7. The death of Osama Bin Laden marks the most significant achievement to date in our nation's effort to defeat al-Qaeda. On 1 May 2011, the U.S. claimed to have killed Bin Laden in a major populated city in a palace compound - but it was a hoax. Cuban-born Jew □ Steve Pieczenik (his parents were from Russia and Poland and he was reared in France) - a maverick troublemaker who made his own rules - claimed that Bin Laden had died of Marfan syndrome in 2001 shortly after the September 11th attacks, and that the attacks on the United States on 9-11 were part of a false flag operation by entities within the American government. Later, on 20 October 2011, Pieczenik claimed that Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi was alive and called Obuma an "obsessional pathological liar."

On 11 July 2002, The New York Times said: "Osama Bin Laden is dead. (He) died in December and was buried in the mountains of southeast Afghanistan.” Pakistan’s president, Pervez Musharraf, BBC, Fox News and other media sources reported the same information.

On 16 September 2012, Pieczenik stated that Israel planned to initiate war with Iran during Yom Kippur 2012, unless ex-Mossad and ex-Shin Bet agents assassinated Benjamin Netanyahu. Neither prediction came to pass. And, on 27 March 2013, Pieczenik claimed Sandy Hook was a hoax and that it was a false flag event - offering no supporting evidence for his claims. On 9 May 2013, Pieczenik claimed Benghazi was the result of a turf war between the CIA and the military intelligence. He suggested that the CIA wished to get rid of General David Petraeus - and get the U.S. president's closest advisor for intelligence and counterterrorism issues, CIA Director John Brennan, through his illegal SOCOM unit to arm Syria: The United States Special Operations Command (USSOCOM or SOCOM) is the Unified Combatant Command charged with overseeing the various Special Operations Component Commands of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States Armed Forces: The command is part of the Department of Defense and is the only Unified Combatant Command legislated into being by the U.S. Congress.

Petraeus, a highly decorated four-star general - a Republican - was Director of the Central Intelligence Agency from 6 September 2011, until his resignation on 9 November 2012: His last assignments in the Army were as commander of the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) and Commander, U.S. Forces Afghanistan (USFOR-A). Petraeus's tenure at the CIA was more low profile than that of his predecessor, Leon Panetta, declining to give media interviews while Director and speaking to Congress in closed sessions.

Petraeus reportedly began an extramarital affair with Paula Broadwell (born 1972), principal author of his biography [ ] after Petraeus left his ISAF command on 18 July 2011 to become CIA director. Petraeus reportedly ended the affair in the summer of 2012, around the time that he learned that Broadwell had been sending harassing emails to a longstanding family friend of the Petraeuses, Gilberte "Jill" Khawam Kelley (born 1975), a Lebanese-born American socialite, in an attempt to blackmail him.

In January 2015, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Justice Department recommended bringing felony charges against Petraeus for providing classified information to Broadwell. Petraeus denied allegations and had no interest in a plea deal: However, on 3 March 2015, the U.S. Justice Department announced that General Petraeus agreed to plead guilty in federal court to a charge of unauthorized removal and retention of classified information. On 23 April 2015, a federal judge sentenced Petraeus to two years' probation plus a fine of $100,000 - the fine was more than double the amount the Justice Department had requested.

The Rape of Nanking

Following the outbreak of the Second Sino-Japanese War, the Japanese Imperial Army marched from Shanghai to the Chinese capital city of Nanking, and though a large number of Chinese POWs and civilians were slaughtered by the Japanese following their entrance into Nanking on 13 December 1937, the precise number of former Chinese soldiers within the city that the Japanese Army hunted down and, in a large number of cases, summarily executed, remains unknown.

The mission of the Red Swastika was a broad based effort of philanthropy and moral education: It ran poorhouses and soup kitchens, as well as modern hospitals and other relief works. It had an explicit international focus, extending relief efforts to Tokyo after earthquakes and also in response to natural disasters in the Soviet Union.

During the brutal occupation of the Japs the chinks were horribly persecuted: Many thousands of them were tortured and killed after gang rape, and tens of thousands of others brutally injured and traumatized. Women were killed in indiscriminate acts of terror and execution, but the large majority died after extended and excruciating gang-rape. One eyewitness, Li Ke-hen, reported: "There are so many bodies on the street, victims of group rape and murder. They were all stripped naked, their breasts cut off, leaving a terrible dark brown hole; some of them were bayoneted in the abdomen, with their intestines spilling out alongside them; some had a roll of paper or a piece of wood stuffed in their vaginas" (Yin and Young, The Rape of Nanking, p. 195). John Rabe, a German (and Nazi) businessman who set up a "Nanking Safety Zone" in the city's international settlement and thereby saved thousands of Chinese lives, described in his diary the weeks of terror endured by the women of Nanjing: Though young and conventionally attractive women were most at risk, no woman was safe from vicious rape and exploitation (often filmed as souvenirs) and probable murder thereafter: "Groups of 3 to 10 marauding soldiers would begin by traveling through the city and robbing whatever there was to steal. They would continue by raping the women and girls and killing anything and anyone that offered any resistance, attempted to run away from them or simply happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. There were girls under the age of 8 and women over the age of 70 who were raped and then, in the most brutal way possible, knocked down and beat up." (Chang, The Rape of Nanking, p. 119.) [ ] In alleys and parks lay the corpses of women who had been dishonored even after death by mutilation and stuffing." (Yin and Young, The Rape of Nanking, p. 195.) "It is impossible to determine the exact number of women raped in Nanking. Estimates range from as low as twenty thousand to as high as eighty thousand." (Chang, The Rape of Nanking, p. 89)

According to Iris Chang: "The Japanese would take any men they found as prisoners, neglect to give them water or food for days, but promise them food and work. After days of such treatment, the Japanese would bind the wrists of their victims securely with wire or rope and herd them out to some isolated area. The men, too tired or dehydrated to rebel, went out eagerly, thinking they would be fed. By the time they saw the machine guns, or the bloodied swords and bayonets wielded by waiting soldiers, or the massive graves, heaped and reeking with the bodies of the men who had preceded them, it was already too late to escape." (Chang, The Rape of Nanking, p. 83.) The Japanese also held grotesque killing contests, including "a competition to determine who could kill the fastest. As one soldier stood sentinel with a machine gun, ready to mow down anyone who tried to bolt, the eight other soldiers split up into pairs to form four separate teams. In each team, one soldier beheaded prisoners with a sword while the other picked up heads and tossed them aside in a pile. The prisoners stood frozen in silence and terror as their countrymen dropped, one by one." (Chang, The Rape of Nanking, p. 85)

Atrocious tortures were also inflicted on the captive men: "The Japanese not only disemboweled, decapitated, and dismembered victims but performed more excruciating varieties of torture. Throughout the city they nailed prisoners to wooden boards and ran over them with tanks, crucified them to trees and electrical posts, carved long strips of flesh from them, and used them for bayonet practice. At least one hundred men reportedly had their eyes gouged out and their noses and ears hacked off before being set on fire. Another group of two hundred Chinese soldiers and civilians were stripped naked, tied to columns and doors of a school, and then stabbed by zhuizi - special needles with handles on them - in hundreds of points along their bodies, including their mouths, throats, and eyes. [ ] The Japanese subjected large crowds of victims to mass incineration. In Hsiakwan [along the Yangtze] a Japanese soldier bound Chinese captives together, ten at a time, and pushed them into a pit, where they were sprayed with gasoline and ignited." (Chang, The Rape of Nanking, pp. 87-88.)

The Bataan Death March

The day after Japan bombed the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor, on 7 December 1941, the Japanese invasion of the Philippines began. Within a month, the Japanese had captured Manila, the capital of the Philippines, and the American and Filipino defenders of Luzon (the island on which Manila is located) were forced to retreat to the Bataan Peninsula. For the next three months, the combined U.S.-Filipino army held out despite a lack of naval and air support. Finally, on April 9th, with his forces crippled by starvation and disease, U.S. General Edward King Jr. (1884-1958), surrendered his approximately 75,000 troops at Bataan.

The surrendered Filipinos and Americans soon were rounded up by the Japanese and forced to march some 65 miles from Mariveles, on the southern end of the Bataan Peninsula, to San Fernando. The men were divided into groups of approximately 100, and what became known as the Bataan Death March typically took each group around five days to complete. The exact figures are unknown, but it is believed that thousands of troops died because of the brutality of their captors, who starved and beat the marchers, and bayoneted those too weak to walk.

Survivors were taken by rail from San Fernando to prisoner-of-war camps, where thousands more died from disease, mistreatment and starvation.

America avenged its defeat in the Philippines with the invasion of the island of Leyte in October 1944. General Douglas MacArthur (1880-1964), who in 1942 had famously promised to return to the Philippines, made good on his word. In February 1945, U.S.-Filipino forces recaptured the Bataan Peninsula, and Manila was liberated in early March.

After the war, an American military tribunal tried Lieutenant General Homma Masaharu, commander of the Japanese invasion forces in the Philippines. He was held responsible for the death march, a war crime, and was executed by firing squad on 3 April 1946. Yet, strangely enough, we honour both Winston Churchill and FDR as great heroes of the Second World War - and even more strangely, both of them had allied with Stalin against Führer Adolf Hitler.

ADDENDUM

Muslim Brotherhood under the microscope in Canada

The federal government is coming under increased pressure to declare the Muslim Brotherhood a terror outfit, as more evidence piles up that the group has tentacles in Canada. Its two main offshoots, Hamas and Egyptian Islamic Jihad, are listed as terrorist organizations in Canada. The last Canadian organization to be added to the list is the alleged Hamas fundraiser IRFAN-Canada, which has worked closely with the Brotherhood, according to an RCMP warrant. The Brotherhood itself, long considered the ideological godfather of Islamist terrorism, has also been under close watch by security officials. Top Brotherhood leaders have lived in Canada for decades: They have led pro-Sharia organizations and sent money and resources to groups that the RCMP and the Canada Revenue Agency say are owned or controlled by Hamas. Brotherhood-linked facilities have invited extremist speakers to Canada who defended child suicide bombers, amputation for thieves and stoning for adulterers. A U.S. terror financing trial heard a secret Brotherhood plan for North America calling for a "grand jihad in eliminating and destroying the Western civilization from within and sabotaging its miserable house."

School teacher Hassan Al-Banna founded the Brotherhood in Egypt in 1928, calling for a global Islamic caliphate. Its intellectual leaders have gained worldwide renown as preachers, scholars and activists but Brotherhood supporters also have a long history of violence dating back to the 1948 assassination of Egyptian prime minister Mahmud al-Nuqrashi.

"Allah is our objective, the prophet is our leader, the Qur'an is our law, jihad is our way, dying in the way of Allah is our highest hope."

The Brotherhood creed, shared by Hamas

While Brotherhood analysts say the group is unlikely to launch attacks on Canadian soil, there's evidence the group is spreading extremist messages in Canada, aside from its alleged financing of terror abroad. Dr. Jamal Badawi of Halifax, a noted Muslim scholar, has publicly preached nonviolence and tolerance: However, a compilation of his teachings makes it clear he believes establishing an Islamic state is a duty for Muslims. The Qur'an is full of indications that are direct, indirect, explicit, implicit that show without any shred of doubt that the establishment of Islamic order or rule is mandatory that Muslims must establish," his website read.

The Muslim Brotherhood - the "antithesis" of Canadian laws and values - has established a "significant presence" in Canada. Mr. Quiggin, a court-recognized expert on terrorism, wrote a study without government or private funding, saying:

"Questions need to be raised about the accreditation, public funding and charity status of the organizations involved." The Muslim Brotherhood was founded in the 1920s by the Egyptian cleric Hassan Al-Banna, whose writings were hostile to the West and envisioned its downfall, proposing instead a "world living under the tranquility of Islam." To achieve this, he called for reforms that included mandatory memorization of the Koran in schools, igniting "the spirit of Islamic jihad" in youths, censorship of music and films, and confiscation of books and newspapers. Almost a century later, the Muslim Brotherhood is a controversial revivalist movement and political party in the Middle East.

The International Relief Fund for the Afflicted and Needy - Canada (IRFAN) had been placed on Ottawa's list of banned terrorist groups. According to the Canada Revenue Agency, IRFAN had merged with the Jerusalem Fund for Human Services, which was allegedly set up by a Muslim Brotherhood committee. IRFAN had funneled $15 million to groups linked to Hamas, the Muslim Brotherhood's Palestinian branch, auditors claimed. IRFAN was a registered charity at the time but has since had its status revoked. The RCMP is investigating. IRFAN denies knowingly funding Hamas.

In Conclusion

Tharwat Kherbawi, a former leadership figure of the Muslim Brotherhood says it is likely that the number of Canadians in this international secret organization ranges from 700 to 1000. They follow the direction of the Head of the Shoura Council of the Muslim Brotherhood in the United States of America. A large number of Muslim Brotherhood members have emigrated to Canada in the wake of the revolution that toppled them from power in Egypt in 2013.

Mr. Kherabawi has stated that the goal of the Muslim Brotherhood is to covert other states into Islamic States gradually. Canada's secular democracy is a target and it is at long term risk of devolving and allowing Muslim Brotherhood ideology to shape policy in Canada.

When was the International Organization of the Muslim Brotherhood Founded?

The founder of the Muslim Brotherhood, Hassan al-Banna created the Muslim Brotherhood in 1928. In 1933, he created the department of external communication for its operations in various countries around the world. Its very first international outreach was to Djibouti and now that outreach involves some 85 countries.

Hassan al-Banna said, "the geographical and political divisions created by a political border does not separate our souls and will not interfere with the meaning of the Arab and Islamic unity, which the hearts gathered in the hope of one and one goal, and made the place all of these countries are one nation." This was confirmed again by Dr. Mohamed Badie in the wake of the group's take over of Egypt.

Hassan al-Banna further added that one of the founders of the external communications department, Dr. Mohamed Mahmoud Sawaf, established within this section:

The Committee on the Near East, including Arab and Muslim countries and peoples in Africa.

Commission the Far East, including the countries of East Asia and Central.

The Committee on Islam in Europe.

In the 1980s, a former member of the Muslim Brotherhood, Mahdi Akef, was chosen to lead the Munich Mosque/Centre. This centre has contributed to the rise of the growth of Islamist organizations in Europe. Mahmoud Abu Halima, convicted for his role in the 1993 World Trade Centre bombing, was part of this effort.

How Does this Secret International Organization Work?

Tharwat Kherbawi was previously a leadership figure in the Muslim Brotherhood. He had specific responsibility for arranging the travel documents of any Muslim Brotherhood member to travelling to any Arab country. As a part of their organizational structure, he realized that it was important to modify the regulations of the organization to assist in expansion. One such change was a document which would allow a Muslim Brotherhood member to be recognized by other Muslim Brotherhood members anywhere in the world.

Other changes were made in the oath of allegiance included words to say that loyalty to the group is forever. The work of the group depends on the Qur'an as the book of God, they work to His profit and for the Victory of Islam.

Funding

The Muslim Brotherhood has a variety of economic activities in Egypt and abroad. According to the Masrawy website, it had a controlling interest in many companies in Egypt as well as a number of companies in the city of Dubai, Qatar and in other Gulf countries. They also invested in Japan where they bought shares in a major company specializing in the automotive and electrical appliances.

The Muslim Brotherhood also found that the investment in the automotive industry could achieve large profits and they bought shares in the company "Daewoo" in Korea before it collapsed. For years, the Muslim Brotherhood has stated they have funds in international banks such as Societe Generale and Barry Bahy France.

The problem of undeclared money is both inside and outside of Egypt. This is a secret activity on behalf of the members who are largely unknown or unrecognized and move from country to country to finance the activities of the Muslim Brotherhood. This is why such a risk exists. It is probable that some of this money supports terrorist organizations that came out of the Muslim Brotherhood and maintain a strategic alliance between them.
